

'Purge' May be Powered After Roosevelt and Farley Confer

See Intensified Drive to Defeat Anti-New Deal Democrats
6 STATES INVOLVED
Parley Expected to Clarify Postmaster-General's Stand

Hyde Park, N. Y., (U)—President Roosevelt called James A. Farley today for a conference which may result in an intensified administration drive to defeat anti-New Deal Democrats in congress.

The Roosevelt-Farley talk, scheduled for sometime today or tomorrow, was considered one of the most politically important moves of the president's stay here.

Mr. Roosevelt presumably wanted to talk with his political generalissimo about campaign developments in a half-dozen states. Farley's advice was expected to determine in part whether the president will make a personal bid in Maryland for the defeat of Senator Millard Tydings, an aggressive foe of the administration.

Other States Concerned

Also among probable topics of conversation between the two were the political situations in New York, Idaho, Georgia, South Carolina and Connecticut.

There has been general speculation regarding Farley's attitude toward Mr. Roosevelt's proposed "purge" of anti-administration Democrats.

The projected conference between the chief executive and his postmaster-general was expected to clarify Farley's stand.

Mr. Roosevelt presumably wanted information from Farley as to what the administration might accomplish in states now politically questionable.

In Idaho, the chief executive's problem is whether to throw administration support behind Senator James P. Pope if the latter, defeated in the Democratic primary, should run for reelection as an independent.

The New York situation involves the question of whether Mr. Roosevelt should support Governor Herbert Lehman for the senate.

Also, the president apparently wanted to talk with Farley about the renomination race of Representative John O'Connor (D-N. Y.), whom Mr. Roosevelt has called "one of the most effective obstructionists in the lower house."

Farley presumably was to be consulted on the relative strength of Governor Olin D. Johnston, an administration supporter, and Senator E. D. Smith, a New Deal opponent, in the South Carolina senatorial primary.

The president and his postmaster general were expected to discuss the general situation in Georgia and Connecticut, where primaries still are to be held.

Mother Testifies At Trial of Son

Defense Rests Case in Murder Charge Against Easton

Michigan City, Ind., (U)—Mrs. Martha Easton of Valley City, N. D., testifying today in the trial of her son, Orelle, 25, for the slaying of Raymond Dixon, state policeman, declared the youth was a normal boy up to the last two years, when he became "childish."

The defense rested with her testimony. Judge Russell W. Smith said three physicians appointed to examine the 25-year old Easton would testify as to whether they consider him sane or insane.

Mrs. Easton testified on the home life of Orelle and his brother, Clarence. The latter was killed by a posse that captured Orelle near Decatur, Ill., the day after Dixon was shot.

Orelle, the mother testified, became "childish" about his health. He would open doors with his hand in his coat pocket, and drink water from a faucet rather than from a glass, expressing fear of germs.

After the defense rested the state introduced as rebuttal evidence depositions of three Valley City residents, saying Orelle bore a bad reputation in the last two years.

U. S. Ambassador Will Attend Nazi Congress

Berlin (U)—United States Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson will attend the annual Nurnberg congress of the Nazi party, which begins Sept. 5, the embassy disclosed today.

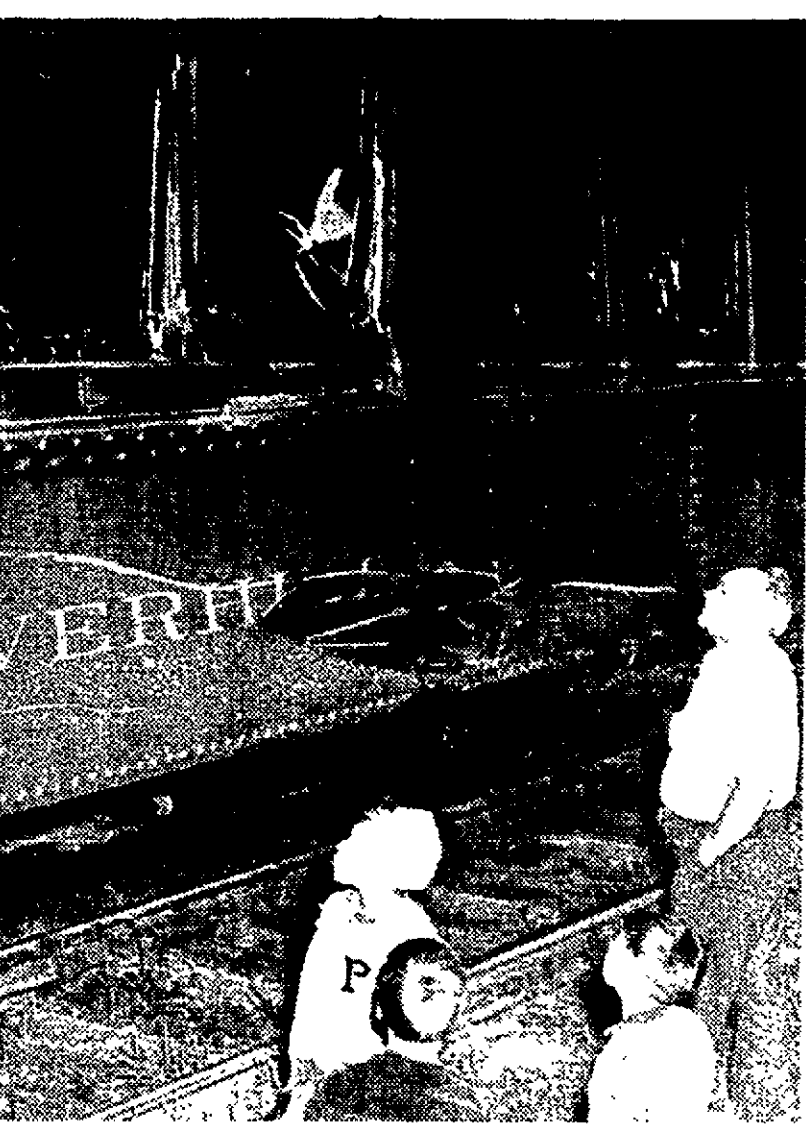

Wilson's acceptance of an invitation was in contrast with the failure of his predecessor, William E. Dodd, to attend the 1937 Nurnberg congress.

(Dodd, in the United States at the time of the 1937 Nazi rally, opposed American representation at Nurnberg, but the state department overruled him and the Charge d'Affaires, Prentiss B. Gilbert, attended.)

5 CONVICTS MUST DIE

San Francisco (U)—Five convicts convicted of the killing of Warden Clarence Larkin in an unsuccessful prison break at Folsom prison last September must die for the crime, the state supreme court held today.

PULLMAN CAR DAMAGED AS TRAINS CRASH

Damage of $10,000 resulted when a northbound Chicago and North Western passenger train crashed into the side of a Pullman car of a westbound train at the junction depot early last night. Both trains were slowing down for the junction stop when the collision occurred. The wrecked Pullman car is shown above. A porter, the only occupant of the car, suffered a sprained shoulder. Believe 12 Died Inside Airliner Downed by Japs

Search Parties Organized To Hunt for Survivors After Attack

Hongkong (U)—Airline officials said tonight they believed at least 12 persons died inside the Chinese-American airliner which was forced down and machine-gunned by Japanese warplanes yesterday between Canton and Macao.

A spokesman for the China National Aviation corporation, the owners, said the line's reports indicated the plane, riddled by machine-gun bullets, was submerged in the South China sea, where the American pilot, H. L. Woods of Winfield, Kans., was killed.

Only three survivors who reached Macao were accounted for tonight—woods, the radio operator, Lee Loh, and a passenger, C. N. Lou—although earlier reports said two wounded Chinese passengers were in a hospital at Shekhi, north of Macao. Passenger Lou also was wounded.

Woods, who reached Macao aboard a sampan and was brought then to Hongkong aboard the United States gunboat Mindanao, said he believed all the missing were killed or wounded in the machine-gunning of the plane. Moreover he reported he heard bomb explosions while lying in a semi-conscious condition on the river bank. Trying to

UAWA Head Refuses Lewis' Peace Plan

Washington (U)—A group of expelled officers of the United Automobile Workers accepted in principle today proposals by John L. Lewis for peace within the union, but President Homer Martin demurred.

Lewis, as chairman of the CIO, with which the UAWA is affiliated, tried to obtain Martin's approval in long conferences yesterday. He asked Martin to resume the discussion today.

The CIO chief told reporters last night that "no decisions have been reached."

None of the conferees would discuss Lewis' proposals, but it was learned he suggested a "middle-of-the-road" compromise. Some observers expressed belief he had recommended that at least two of the three ousted vice presidents be reinstated.

Expect Major Fight in Congress on Domestic Allotment Farm Program

Washington (U)—Administration farm leaders expect a major fight in the next congress over a proposal to replace the "ever normal granary" crop control law with domestic allotment and price-fixing regulations.

Declining farm prices and accumulating crop surpluses have stimulated agitation for revision of the 1938 farm act among cotton and wheat growers.

Secretary Wallace has indicated, however, he will carry his defense of the present law to the farmers before congress convenes.

The proposed domestic allotment program, which had strong support in the last congress, would eliminate the present acreage allotment, marketing control and benefit payment provisions. Farmers would be free to produce as much as they desired but could sell only a specified share, or allotment, of the domestic market.

For example, if domestic needs were estimated at 650,000,000 bush-

Porter Injured When Passenger Trains Collide

Engine Rams Pullman Car And Causes Damage Of $10,000

A Pullman porter suffered minor injuries and damage of $10,000 was caused in a collision of two Chicago and North Western passenger trains as they were slowing to a stop at the Junction depot at 7:46 last night.

Northbound train No. 209, due at the junction at 7:47 approached as westbound train No. 109 was stopping. The engine of the former crashed into the middle of the Pullman car of the westbound train at the track crossing. The latter train was due at 7:46 and was six minutes late, according to railroad officials.

Luther Abbey, Minneapolis, porter on the westbound Pullman was alone in the car and had just walked by the point of the crash, but the impact threw him to the floor. He was shaken up and suffered a sprained shoulder which necessitated treatment by a physician.

The Pullman car was derailed. Four windows were smashed and several berths damaged. The undercarriage of the car, including the air-conditioning equipment, was torn off and the frame of the Pullman bent. The headlight of train No. 209 was broken but the engine had little other damage. It proceeded on its run to Green Bay.

The wrecker was brought from Green Bay and the Pullman car was put back on the rails in about three hours and taken to Green Bay. Train No. 109 proceeded to Minneapolis minus the Pullman.

William Strang, Fond du Lac, engineer on the northbound train, was the engineer of the Sunflower special, which carried former Governor Landon of Kansas, candidate for president, on his campaign trip in 1936. The train made a stop at Appleton. He also was the engineer on the Roosevelt special for the president's campaign in the same election.

Pilots Escape After Planes Crash in Air

Oscoda, Mich. (U)—Two army pursuit airplanes flying at 10,000 feet in combat formation with four others, collided near Tawas city today but their pilots, Major H. R. Wells, 49, and Lieutenant A. P. Clark, Jr., 25, leaped to safety with their parachutes.

Major Wells, commanding headquarters squadron of the first pursuit group at Selfridge field, suffered facial burns as his plane caught fire. The ships were returning to their base from an air corps gunnery range.

Britain Plans to Ease Tension in Central Europe

Evolve Proposal Intended To Solve Czechoslovak Problem

London (U)—The British government, diplomatic quarters heard today, has evolved plans for a new step toward solving Czechoslovakia's minority problem.

One source suggested Great Britain had decided to give France "unmistakable assurance" of support if conflict resulted, and if France were called upon to fulfill treaty obligations to Czechoslovakia.

The French government is obligated to aid the little republic if it is attacked, but Britain has made no such commitment.

The Czechoslovak minority troubles center about demands of the Nazi-endorsed Sudeten German party for autonomy in local government.

Fear Military Action

Chancellor Hitler of Germany has avowed the Nazis are protectors of Germans everywhere, and France, Czechoslovakia and Great Britain have expressed varying degrees of fear that Germany might take military action to aid the Sudeten Germans in getting their demands.

Find Body of Young Man Beaten to Death

Cleveland (U)—The body of a well-dressed young man, beaten to death, police said, by a pervert, was found today near a tennis court, served by students of Western Reserve university in an exclusive east side residential district.

Detective Sergeant James Hogan of the homicide squad discounted robbery or revenge motives in the killing, although no money was found in the pockets of the victim, identified as Orlando, Schiaoni, Jr., 20.

Hogan said the man had been beaten to death about eight hours before the body was discovered by a summer school student of Case School of Applied Science, also nearby.

Replies to Critics of Un-American Committee

Washington (U)—Chairman Dies (D-Texas) replied to critics of the house un-American committee today by charging a "calculated campaign" of abuse and "fabricated reports" had been directed at the committee.

"The fact that the investigation seems to have stirred up so much criticism among some so-called liberals seems to us evidence we've hit the nail on the head. We are getting nine letters and telegrams of praise to every complaint, which shows where the people are in this matter."

FORMER MAYOR DIES

Milwaukee (U)—Frank L. Hunt, former mayor of Phillips, Wis., died at Columbia hospital here yesterday.

Armed Bandits Rob State Bank At Birnamwood

Three Men Escape With $3,500 in Waiting Car

FLOURISH GUNS

Enter Bank Shortly After Opening Hour This Morning

Birnamwood, Wis. (U)—The Birnamwood State bank was robbed of $3,500 today by three men who nervously flourished revolvers and escaped in a waiting automobile.

Cashier John Perarr said the men entered shortly after the bank opened at 9 o'clock, ordered J. B. Rundhammer, assistant cashier,

Spread Radio Net

Law enforcement officers of Outagamie, Waupaca, Winnebago and Fond du Lac counties, linked in a police radio network, today joined police of Shawano and surrounding counties in the search for the Birnamwood bank bandits.

The alarm was spread over the police radio network and traffic officers were patrolling the highways in search of the men and the black sedan in which they escaped.

Descriptions of the car and of the men, furnished by John Perarr, cashier of the robbed bank, were broadcast.

Eight Persons May Be Implicated in Deaths at Prison

Investigators Plan to Re-enact 'Roasting' of Four Convicts

Philadelphia (U)—Arrest of at least eight persons in the "baking to death" of four convicts who led a hunger strike at the Philadelphia country prison was predicted today by Coroner Charles A. Hersch.

He said the investigation he was conducting with District Attorney John A. Boyle indicated that at least that many would be implicated in the deaths of the men in steam-heated, almost air-tight punishment cells.

Ask Grand Jury Probe In Sheboygan County

Sheboygan (U)—Approximately 200 persons attending a meeting called by the anonymous "Committee of Nine" voted last night to ask the circuit court to call a grand jury to investigate conditions in Sheboygan county.

The vote followed announcement that some 4,700 citizens had signed petitions demanding an investigation.

The Rev. Edward H. Wessler, pastor of the Union Reformed church, told the meeting, a special investigator working under the committee had revealed a "majority of 20 places investigated" were gambling establishments or houses of ill fame.

Mr. Wessler, who presided, announced appointment of an executive committee of six to pursue the work launched by the committee of nine. The committee members, he said, would work with attorneys hired by the committee of nine to demand that the grand jury be called.

Portuguese Envoy, Wife Are Killed in Wreck

Barnstable, Mass. (U)—Dr. Victor Eduardo Vasquez de Faria, consul general of Portugal at New York, and his wife, Katherine, were killed today when their automobile was struck by a Hyannis-to-Boston train.

Identification of the bodies was made by the Portuguese minister to the United States, Dr. Joao de Bianchi, who is summing at nearby Nantucket.

State and local police had no inkling as to the identity of the victims for several hours until Dr. Bianchi was summoned. The only clue was an automobile driving license made out to the wife of the consul, Katherine Mahon de Faria, 38. The husband was 40.

Deny Utility Appeal On Land Transaction

Madison (U)—The public service commission announced today it had denied the Northern States Power company a rehearing on an order authorizing Whitehall village, Trempealeau county, to acquire company property.

The commission said "sufficient reasons or grounds do not exist to warrant granting a rehearing." The company contended the commission erred in determining that the village had the right to acquire the property.

The Farmer's Cooperative Supply and Shipping association, West Salem, La Crosse county, was granted exemption from the legal 85 foot railroad track clearance provisions.

Theater Bank Night to Be Tested at Kenosha

Kenosha, Wis. (U)—A test of the theater bank night question which may reach the state supreme court has been started here.

In a "friendly" action, a warrant was issued yesterday charging William Exton, theater manager, with operating a lottery. He is to be arraigned in county court tomorrow.

Leo Vaudreuil, deputy attorney general, will prosecute the case.

Business Upswing Reported by Three Federal Agencies

Council Attempt to Block 18-Ward Move Is Defeated By State Attorney's Ruling

An aldermanic attempt to re-submit to voters the charter ordinance increasing the number of wards to 18 in Appleton and reducing the number of aldermen from two to one per ward failed today when Orlan S. Loomis, attorney general, ruled the ordinance cannot be re-submitted in the fall election, according to the Associated Press.

As a result of Loomis' decision, Appleton will have 18 aldermen representing 18 wards on the city council and 18 supervisors on the Outagamie county board after the April elections in 1939.

Because of conflicting state law, in the sections on elections and on charter laws raising a question of the legality of re-submitting the ordinance to the people, Harry P. Hoefel, city attorney, was ordered by the city council May 23 to seek the attorney general's opinion.

Eight Persons May Be Implicated in Deaths at Prison

Philadelphia (U)—Arrest of at least eight persons in the "baking to death" of four convicts who led a hunger strike at the Philadelphia country prison was predicted today by Coroner Charles A. Hersch.

He said the investigation he was conducting with District Attorney John A. Boyle indicated that at least that many would be implicated in the deaths of the men in steam-heated, almost air-tight punishment cells.

State prison investigators said they planned to "turn on the heat" and enter the stuffy cells to learn whether the punishment cell block was "a deliberately planned roast."

Youth Dies During Gale on Mountain

Two Companions Struggle To Cover in New Hampshire Storm

Randolph, N. H. (U)—New Hampshire's rugged White mountains demonstrated anew today the treacherous weather that quickly turns an inviting sky-line trail into a bewildering blur of sleet and fog to trap unwary climbers.

Eighteen-year-old Joseph Caggiano of Long Island City, N. Y., lay dead of exhaustion and exposure, trapped 4,000 feet above sea level, beyond the timber line, by an icy gale on 5,800-foot Mount Adams, second highest peak in the Presidential range.

Second Woman Dies as Result of Auto Crash

Ashtland, Wis. (U)—Mrs. Elsie Cory, 65, of Akron, N. Y., died in a hospital here yesterday, the second victim of an automobile accident on Highway 2 Tuesday.

Mrs. Cory, 70, of Ashtland, was struck shortly after the car driven by her brother, George Rutenark, 54, left the highway.

Accuses Weinberg of Stealing $300,000 From 'Policy Empire'

New York (U)—George Weinberg, 36, former business manager of the multi-million-dollar Dutch Schultz policy racket, testified in the conspiracy trial of Tammany District Leader James J. Hines today that two other persons had witnessed a "court-fixing" case allegedly ordered by Hines.

Under cross-examination by Defense Counsel Lloyd Paul Stryker, Weinberg said that Martin (Moe) Weintraub, a co-defendant who will be tried separately, and another man were present when he said Hines asked City Magistrate Hulton J. Capshaw to "take care" of a series of policy case arrests.

"Why didn't you say that on direct examination?" asked Stryker, raising his eyebrows in surprise.

"Well," Weinberg said calmly, "I wasn't asked."

Train Stops Self After Explosion Kills Operators

Dayton, Ohio (U)—The Pennsylvania railroad's "St. Louisian" prodded for five miles downgrade today after a boiler explosion killed its engineer, John Breen, and fireman, R. H. Mitchell.

Railroad officials at Columbus said the combination of escaping steam and a curve near Cedarville apparently stopped the train, which runs between New York and St. Louis.

Both engineers, thrown from the cab, lived in Columbus, Ohio.

The train, with steam gushing from the burst boiler, coasted through Cedarville, 6 miles east of here, passed the main street crossing without its usual whistle signal, and rolled to a halt at the western limits of the city.

A section crew heard the explosion and saw the steam pouring from the cab as the train roared by. They followed it about 200 yards and found the bodies of the engineer and fireman, who apparently died almost instantly.

Substantial Improvement Noted in Recent Weeks

OFFER STATISTICS Favorable Turn Seen in National Income Figures

Washington (U)—Three federal agencies offered today statistical evidence of substantial business improvement in recent weeks.

The federal reserve board calculated the upswing in steel, textiles, petroleum, shoe and other industries had won back in the last seven weeks all the ground lost in the previous seven months.

At the treasury, a 25 per cent spurt in customs collections indicated to officials that conditions had improved to the point where purchases of foreign raw materials and other merchandise were expected.

National Income Better

The commerce department reported the first favorable turn in its index of national income in nearly a year. July income declined less than the usual seasonal amount, and the nation's income from wages, dividends and other sources was estimated at $55,300,000,000 for the first seven months of the year.

Because this was not far from the $30,000,000,000 income in the similar portion of last year, statisticians indicated a belief that continued business improvement might bring the 1938 total close to last year's $59,300,000,000, which was the highest since 1929.

The reserve board said its index of industrial production rose from 77 per cent of the 1923-25 average in June to 82 per cent in July and gained further in the first three weeks of August.

Study Tax Exemptions

Senator Brown (D-Mich.), discussing the relation of business to government, predicted a substantial influx of capital into productive enterprise would follow enactment of a law permitting federal and state taxation of incomes from all government securities and salaries.

Brown, chairman of a senate subcommittee studying tax exempt securities, indicated the group would recommend passage of such a law by the next congress, in line with President Roosevelt's recommendations last year.

U. S. Chamber Wants Wagner Act Changed

Washington (U)—The United States Chamber of Commerce recommended changes in the Wagner labor relations act today to correct what it terms "influence working strongly against economic recovery."

George H. Davis, president of the chamber, criticized both the act and its administration in a statement which followed by only a few days President Roosevelt's announcement that some revision of the law would be considered.

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters last week he had no specific changes in mind but he agreed with President William Green of the American Federation of Labor that the act should be clarified.

Hold Arab for Killing British Commissioner

Jerusalem (U)—An Arab hunchback was held today on charges of assassinating W. S. Moffatt, British assistant district commissioner.

Moffatt died last night from five bullet wounds suffered when gunmen invaded district administrative headquarters at Jenin.

Police also were searching for a band which kidnaped Hanna Houry, a Greek monk, and his brother. Police said they believed the men were kidnaped because they refused to support anti-government activities.

Special Session Of Parliament Is Sought In France

Demand Follows Premier's Request to Drop 40-Hour Week

Paris—(U)—A socialist party demand for a special session of parliament today closely followed accounts quoting Premier Edouard Daladier as declaring that "Germany's mobilization of 2,000,000 men" had confronted him with a situation no government chief has known since 1914.

Newspapers with strong political connections said the premier's declaration was made at last night's closed meeting of the executive committee of his own radical-socialist party, and mentioned that the committee voted him "complete confidence."

Today the executive committee of the socialist party, largest in the chamber of deputies, instructed its delegates to the national council of the people's front to insist that communists and radical-socialists join in the demand for an immediate session of parliament.

"I must be ready," Daladier said last night on his demand for dropping the 40-hour week, declared.

"I can not wait for slow changes. I am held by the throat."

"France must be ready immediately, not in a year, nor even in six months. We must begin to produce more, immediately—in several days."

The premier was quoted as declaring, in reference to the German maneuvers:

"In the face of 2,000,000 men I need a serious effort in the months to come to save France from every menace. It would be a crime against the nation if this effort were not made immediately."

"If no one wishes to listen to me," Daladier was quoted as ending his speech, "then two months from now a government will impose 44 hours without overtime—and they will be worked."

Duffy Urges PWA To Approve Work

Senator Believes Projects Held Up Because of River Proposal

Fond du Lac—(U)—Senator P. Ryan Duffy, sent a message to Harold L. Ickes, PWA administrator, today asking allocations for projects reported held up because of consideration given a $26,000,000 grant for the Wisconsin river flood control and power program.

His message follows:

"Although 167 new applications have cleared Chicago office and are at Washington for consideration, no new PWA projects have come through since July 26. All other states in this district are receiving allocations."

"I am informed today that consideration of grant of $26,000,000 for flood control and power program Wisconsin river is reason for holding up applications which in regular course would have been heretofore approved."

"Problems Serious"

"While I have no objections to river project, I certainly would strenuously object to have applications from 167 Wisconsin communities disallowed because funds were all used up in river project. Unemployment problems serious in all communities from which applications have been made and relief should be afforded to all portions of our state."

"While I hope river project may be approved, I would object to having this done at the expense of approximately 237 meritorious projects from Wisconsin which have either cleared Chicago office or now under consideration with every possibility that approval will be given."

"Cannot funds for river project be found without penalizing over 200 Wisconsin cities, villages, and school districts?"

Final Raft Hike Is Held At Valley Council Camp

BY BILL SPENGLER

Gardner Dam—Sixteen Old Timers' week school left camp Monday afternoon for the final raft hike of this season.

Upon arrival at the Lodge, three miles from camp, the rafters were hauled to the river bank and rafts were nailed, tied, or lashed together.

First to reach camp were Richard Jepson and Fred Rasmussen, Troop 3, Menasha. Two more Menasha scouts, Gilbert Burke, Troop 3, and George Enders, Troop 9, placed second. Third raft to return was again manned by Menasha scouts, Don Drucks and Bill Thompson, Troop 3.

Ihlenfeldt "Forced" To Abandon Action in Coalitionist Listing

Madison—(U)—Edward Ihlenfeldt, of West Allis, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, announced yesterday he was "forced" to abandon his plea for a writ of mandamus from the state supreme court to compel Secretary of State Theodore Dammann to place the name of Robert K. Henry, coalition candidate for governor, on only one ticket.

Ihlenfeldt said he was forced to accept "a terrible miscarriage of justice" because counsel for Henry refused to waive a 20-day period in which they could file an answer to the application.

It had been arranged, he said, that a quorum of the supreme court would hear the petition Saturday on condition that Henry be made a party with Dammann in the action.

The 20-day waiver was important because the primary ballots will go to the printers Sept. 2. Dammann has authorized listing of Henry and other coalition candidates on the Republican and Democratic tickets.

Famous Rodeo to Be Main Feature Of Labor Picnic

Band of Riders, Ropers, Bulldozers Will Perform Here 3 Days

The western-famed Smith Brothers, who first dealt in wild horses and now produce one of the best of the traveling rodeos, will be the principal feature of the Labor day celebration at Erb park Sept. 3, 4, and 5, which will be sponsored by the Appleton Trades and Labor council and the Harvey Pierre post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Only a few weeks off the ranges, the 19 riders are expected to present some of the most exciting scenes ever seen in Appleton and vicinity. The rodeo riders will be seen for the first time in a College avenue parade Saturday afternoon, Sept. 3, the opening day of the celebration.

Among the outstanding performers in the Smith Brothers rodeo is Floyd Monroe, Sun Valley, Idaho, a professional bulldozer and calf roper, one of the fastest and most efficient in the game. He holds records at several of the biggest rodeos in the west. He holds a bulldozing record of six seconds and was champion calf roper of the Northwest in 1936. His calf-roping record is 13 and 10 seconds.

Joe Atkins, of Silver City, New Mexico, is one of the most sensational bronco riders in the rodeo circuit. One of his most thrilling performances is with a Brahma bull, one of the fiercest of the cattle family.

Jimmy Kaaro of Santa Anita, Calif., trick roper and bronco rider; Albert La Fountain, Calgary, B. C., veteran bronco buster; and Bunny Mutch, Browning, Mont., 19-year-old boy sensation are other featured performers.

Claims Dairy Farmers Slighted Under Ag Act

Mauston, Wis.—(U)—The dairy farmer of Wisconsin, William H. Stafford said in a campaign address here, last night, have been short-changed under the agricultural adjustment act.

"Every farmer knows that the three-month wheat farmers and the cotton growers have been getting the big slice from the government pork barrel," declared Stafford, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

And every farmer knows that no government can control crop supply, that bountiful harvests are directly accountable to the weather.

"The hard-headed farmer joins with the business man in not wishing to be interfered with by crack-brained agricultural theorists."

CONFIRM SEWAGE PROJECT Wisconsin Delis, Wis.—(U)—PWA engineers confirmed the Delis' sewage project tonight, awarding a $77,495.40 contract to J. M. Walch of Madison, Wis.

McMahon, Troop 3, Neenah and Menasha

Three angles Jack Dieheim, Bill Ruckner, and Roman Zimmerman, Troop 3, Neenah, walked a short way up stream from camp on a fishing expedition Monday afternoon, with a dozen fish in the black bag.

Following dinner, the staff volleyball team succeeded in squeezing out a victory over an all-star group of campers. Scores of the thrilling battle were 15-13; 15-11.

Playing for the winning staffmen were Bob Ains, Byron Frognier, Dr. R. K. Hausman, Neil McCarthy, George Meier, Monroe Romonesko, Joe Shevelson, Bill Spalding, and Harold Williams.

On the all-star team were Bob Bayler, Bud Falatic, Rue Piette, and Don Strutz, Troop 2, Appleton; Bill and John Mullen, Troop 13, Appleton; Jim Bradley, Troop 13, Appleton; and Tom McCarthy, Troop 31, Kaukauna.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO SCREEN IDOL

The mysterious woman in black who appears each year at the grave of Rudolph Valentino, screen lover of the silent picture era, turned out to be three mysterious women in black this year. Here is one of the dark clad pilgrims as she placed flowers in a vase.

Only Republicans to Have Primary Election Contests

BY L. J. DERIS

Only four contests will take place in the county primary election Sept. 20, and every one will be on the Republican ticket. This probably accounts for the quiet pre-primary election period, as the question of candidates was settled three weeks ago when filing of nomination papers ended.

Stephen M. Peeters, Little Chute, will oppose Edward F. Hennicke, Kaukauna, for nomination as registrar of deeds. William L. Crow and Adrian E. Gerrits, Appleton, are seeking the nomination as district attorney.

The other two contests will be for the assembly posts from the First and Second districts. In the first district Mark Catlin, Jr., incumbent, will be opposed for renomination by John E. Dolcherty and Franklin C. Jesse. William J. Gantler, Kaukauna, and James Sayers, route 1, Shiocton, will seek the nomination in the Second district.

Candidates assured of nomination because of lack of opposition to their party tickets indicate they will be more active following the primary election. But even the November election will not be a spirited one except in some instances, politicians predict.

Unionites Will Stage Party Rally at Freedom

Peter Gloudermans, Little Chute, union party candidate for congress in the Eighth district, will speak at a Union party rally at Freedom Friday evening. Earl Bach, Milwaukee, also will speak on the program being arranged by Arthur Hoolihan, Kaukauna.

Today's RADIO HIGHLIGHTS

Americans at work program will be broadcast direct from the offices of William Allen White's "Emporia Gazette," in Emporia, Kansas, at 8:30 over WBBM. Mr. White will be interviewed by Gilbert Seides. Technical, mechanical and editorial workmen on the paper also will take part in the program.

Part 2 of Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude" will be dramatized on Pulitzer prize play program at 7 o'clock over WLS and WTMJ.

"Ticks and Texas Fever" will be the subject of the drama to be presented on Men Against Death program at 6 o'clock over WBBM and WCCO.

Coalition Today Sweeping Nation, Lawrence States

Most Formidable Union of Crusading Voters Country Has Known

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—President Roosevelt has an amazingly subjective view about politics. When Republicans turn over by the millions to help him win the presidency, as they did in 1932, or when they assist in reelecting him, as they did in 1936, their votes are welcomed. Indeed, Mr. Roosevelt publicly appeared on the radio for such transfer of party allegiances. But when other Republicans, having had their fill of New Dealism, seek an effective way to repudiate it, they are accused of violating "political morals."

Mr. Roosevelt objects to the fact that thousands of Republicans entered the Democratic primaries in Idaho to help defeat a rubber-stamp senator by voting for Representative Clark, Democrat, who had announced that he would vote for the interests of the people of Idaho and irrespective of presidential command.

Lawrence

How does President Roosevelt know that these New Democrats or former Republicans will not vote Democratic next autumn and support the man they have helped to nominate? His accusation is based on mere suspicion. Representative Clark will be the next senator from Idaho unless Mr. Roosevelt helps to put Mr. Pope into the race as an independent, which, of course, would split the Democratic vote and hand the senatorship to a Republican. Just what term would describe such desertion of party is hard to say, but violation of "political morals" would be rather mild when the supporters of Representative Clark became vocal.

Forbidden to Shift?

If American citizens are to be forbidden to shift from party to party, then what becomes of independence of voting? Is shifting allowed only when it is in the interest of Mr. Roosevelt's personal maneuvers in politics? How else can independence be manifested except for Republicans to go from their party to the other? The president has been making common cause with Republicans in the west.

It was no violation of "political morals" evidently when, in 1936, after the Democratic party in Nebraska had in formal manner at the party primaries nominated a Democrat for the senate, Mr. Roosevelt ignored that action and came out for the election of Senator Norris, who had for years been using the Republican label to get himself elected, although he had nothing in common with the national Republican party or its platform.

Likewise, in Wisconsin, Mr. Roosevelt played with the Progressives in 1936, and it is still fresh in the memory of Minnesota Democrats how, after they had nominated a complete ticket, Mr. Roosevelt sold them down the river, as they called it, when he gave orders for a coalition with the Farmer-Labor nominees so as to assure victory for himself in Minnesota.

When Mr. Roosevelt says that the shifting of votes from party to party in the primaries will bring back the old "boss-ridden" convention system, he is overlooking the fact that, under the existing primary system, the federal boss controls such a large part of the voting strength through the WPA and the PWA and similar agencies that the real liberals in the Democratic party naturally solicit the aid of liberal brethren in the Republican party to beat the federal bosses.

Switch Votes

Indiana this spring was a case in point. The party Republicans wouldn't help Senator Van Nuys get reelected by endorsing him for the Republican nomination. They stood their ground. But the liberal Republicans were ready to make the switch and vote for Mr. Van Nuys. The prospect of a three-cornered race alarmed the inner circle of the New Deal because it meant a Republican senatorship instead of a Democrat who had supported at least 90 per cent of the New Deal measures. Does Mr. Roosevelt believe that these liberal Republicans, now that they have used their influence to help Mr. Van Nuys, are going to desert?

Advocates Change in Labor Relations Law

Eau Claire, Wis.—(U)—Robert K. Henry, coalition candidate for nomination for governor on the Republican and Democrat tickets, advocated a change in the state labor law in an address here last night.

Henry said the statute should be changed to give cooperatives, manufacturers and farmers an opportunity to bring complaints before the board.

"Industry has come to realize that collective bargaining between employer and employee is here to stay," Henry said. "The present national and state labor boards, however, do not give employer equality with organized employees. This fact is recognized by reputable labor leaders."

Henry proposed a conference between all parties concerned to draft an equitable law giving rights and responsibilities to both sides.

him, or that Mr. Van Nuys really will be elected by an overwhelming vote?

What hurts Mr. Roosevelt most is that his own strategy is being used against him. Throughout the union from coast to coast, "coalition" is succeeding. It is not formal but informal coalition, the kind of fusion that forgets party lines, for instance, to save the supreme court from further tampering by the president.

The provocation for fusion or coalition was furnished by Mr. Roosevelt himself, who gathered unto his side western Republicans and who made an issue inside his party of questions that were never mentioned in the party platform. Coalition means a banding together of all real liberals against the new theories. Mr. Roosevelt speaks constantly of the tory press, but forgets that the word tory was applied in England against the party which historically committed itself to restriction of individualism and to an increasing of the power of the state. By that definition, the New Dealers are really the new Tories, and this transformation of a so-called liberal party to toryism is not infrequent in history, as has been pointed out in the essays of Herbert Spencer.

Coalition today of independent and liberal voters is sweeping the nation. Mr. Roosevelt is crying out because he recognizes it as the most formidable union of crusading voters this country has known. Men and women everywhere are disregarding party names to vote for principles. They do not believe Mr. Roosevelt should be permitted to annex the name Democrat as his own personal possession and dictate its platform in accordance with personal whim. These independent voters are aggressively helping the real Democrats in Indiana, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Georgia, Iowa, Missouri, California, Idaho and New York.

When men like Senators Bennett Clark in Missouri, Fred Van Nuys in Indiana, Gillette of Iowa, Longan of Connecticut or Tydings of Maryland win their party nomination, independent Republicans will be found voting the Democratic ticket this autumn. But when rubber-stamp Democrats like Senators Barkley of Kentucky or Bulkley of Ohio, both of whom voted for the packing of the supreme court, win the Democratic nomination, the Republican independents will doubtless switch to the other side to make their protest more effective than it was when they participated in the Democratic primaries. It certainly is not liberalism, but much closer to toryism, to try to tell the American voters they have no right to switch their party, and Mr. Roosevelt next November may regret his accusation of political immorality which he has leveled at millions of independent Republicans.

Fox Declares Phil Has Failed to Aid Farmers

Hillsboro, Wis.—(U)—Jerome F. Fox, Democratic candidate for governor, declared in an address last night that "our present state administration, which has the endorsement of the communist party, has failed to do a single constructive thing for the farmers of this state in the past four years."

"Of course," Fox continued, "it's impossible to be satisfactory to communism and to the farmers at the same time. The farmer should be the foremost natural enemy of any plan that scents of communism, because he is the most independent producer in existence."

"Large corporations are owned by stockholders, managed by salaried executives and employ laborers. The farmer owns his means of production, manages it and usually furnishes his own labor."

Tydings in Attack on 'Outside Influence'

Baltimore—(U)—A virtual declaration of independence by Senator Millard E. Tydings left a wider breach today between him and the New Deal, which would "purge" him from congress.

The senior Maryland senator, a Democrat denounced by the president in his bid for reelection, spoke out bluntly last night against "outside influence" being brought to bear in the campaign.

He struck out at the idea of a congress "subservient to any man" and ridiculed the 100 per cent New Deal slant of Representative David J. Lewis, his Roosevelt-approved opponent for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

through himself and his family. He would be the first to feel the communistic mailed fist."

NAZIS ELIMINATE HOBOES
Berlin—(U)—The day of the hobo seems over in Nazi Germany. When Hitler took power, approximately 200,000 "knights of the road" roamed the country.

Nazi officialdom has devised means of keeping a closer check on these wanderers, with the result that there are only 22,787 of them left, according to latest statistics. The decrease is attributed to various job creations schemes.

Committee Plans Spirited Program For Sales Rally

Widely Known Speaker, Sparkling Entertainment To be Presented

A nationally known speaker, interesting entertainment, and ample accommodations for spectators are assured for the gigantic "Sales Mean Jobs" rally at Pierce park, according to plans developed by the crusade's general committee at a meeting yesterday in the insurance building.

The speaker will convey to the thousands of listeners the "Sales Mean Jobs" message, pointing out its economic significance and its workability. It is planned to have brief talks by Mayor John Goodland, Jr., and other men of Appleton.

Sparkling entertainment, featuring both local and outside performers, will round out the program and produce an informal and good-humored atmosphere at the important event.

Both college and high school bleachers will be set up in the park. Mayor Goodland reported yesterday that workmen will start immediately on that phase of the preparations, so that thousands of people will find comfortable seats at the rally.

Special Policing

Special police detachments will be assigned to the rally. The parking spaces will be greatly enlarged so that drivers need not fear they will have any difficulty. Every seat in the park will be a good seat, including those within cars, for a powerful public address system will efficiently relay the speeches, and music, and entertainment to all those attending.

Beneath all the superficial preparations for the rally, beneath the flare of publicity and the hustle and bustle of committee work, lie vital economic and social factors.

The crusade is out to release curtailed purchasing power and to stimulate buying in all fields. It is a recovery program, meant to restore aggressiveness to the salesmen and confidence to the consumer.

Benefits All

These factors, stressed at yesterday's meeting, it was pointed out, time and again, that the "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade encompasses all manner of men and workers. Not just the college avenue merchants, or the paper manufacturers along the Fox river, or the farmers, or the clerks. Like the weather, it affects them all. And because that is so, achievements of its aims will mean bettering of conditions in all walks of life.

Repeated praise was heard at yesterday's meeting for a method of selling which has been developed since the "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade began sweeping the country. It is the reduction of goods to man-hours. By telling a prospective buyer, that if he or she purchases an article, a certain number of hours employment will be given a worker, a salesman can convince people of the significance of "Sales Mean Jobs."

Batz Shows Treatment Men Through City Plant

Five men interested in sewage disposal plants visited the Appleton Treatment plant today and were shown through the building by C. O. Batz, plant superintendent. They were: Charles E. A. F. L. May Try to Revive Alliances With Central, South American Labor

Atlantic City, N. J.—(U)—American Federation of Labor leaders may try to revive alliances with Central and South American labor soon to cope with what they term "extremist groups" in a new Latin-American movement.

A convention call to the relative inactivity Pan-American Federation of Labor, President William Green of the A. F. of L. indicated, may be counter-strategy if a movement under way in Mexico succeeds in setting up a Latin-American trade union congress. A conference of American and foreign labor leaders will be held in Mexico City, Sept. 5, to discuss the founding of an international congress, uniting in an international organization labor groups in North, South and Central America.

Meeting of "Communists"

At a press conference yesterday, the A. F. of L. leader described the Mexico City conference as a "meeting of extreme leftists and communists."

After conferring with the federation's executive council on questions of policy toward Latin-American labor developments, Green dis-

OLD FIRE BELL TO GET NEW RESTING PLACE

Fire Chief George P. McGillan is shown above taking a last look at the old fire alarm bell before it was taken from the roof of the fire department. While the bell has not been in use for many years, it recalled the days when its ringing would summon the volunteer brigade running to fight fires. The bell is to be stored in the basement of the department. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Old Fire Bell of Volunteer Days Taken Down From Department Roof

Days when volunteer firemen responded to alarms with the ringing of the fire bell atop the department building were recalled today as the old bell was removed from the roof to take place with other outmoded equipment in the basement of the building.

Lettering on the bell, which hasn't been used for years, shows it was made by the Manly and Kimberly foundry, New York, in 1875. It weighs 1,000 pounds.

The bell first rang out from a tower on the roof of the building. Its lingering, deep tones would bring scurrying feet and in a few seconds the pounding hoofs of horses drawing equipment would resound through the building and then down city streets.

A call alarm later was set up and the bell would automatically ring out, designating the call box from which an alarm was sent in. This method was disregarded after a few years when the system for some years when the system failed to keep its accuracy, as the open belfry left the bell to the elements and the system often needed repairs. Then an old stove member, one of those idle individuals spending his hours at the station exchanging small gossip, would ring the bell by hand as every voluntary fireman would answer the alarm.

After the paid fire department was organized, there was no need for ringing the bell and it remained forgotten on the roof. Years went by and when roof repairs were being made it was found that the old wooden tower was rotting. The tower was ripped down and the bell moved to the north-west corner of the roof and left to rest on timbers. Now the timbers have rotted, and the bell was taken today to the basement of the building.

Blacktop Shoulders on Highway 41 Relocation

A work crew of the county highway department has completed blacktopping of the shoulders of the Highway 41 relocation north of McCarthy's crossing. The surfacing serves three purposes, keeps the shouldering material in place, keeps it off the highway and the black border contrasts with the white slab, outlining the roadway at night and decreasing the chance of accident.

Carl Ludwig, 90, County Pioneer Farmer, Succumbs

Represented Greenville on Town Board for 29 Years; Was Supervisor

Carl Ludwig, 90, pioneer town of Greenville farmer and politician, was found dead in bed about 9 o'clock this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Grapengieser, 831 E. Brewster street.

Mr. Ludwig was born in Germany March 5, 1848 and celebrated his 90th birthday in March this year. He came to America from Germany 65 years ago and settled in Greenville which he represented on the county board for four years. He served on the Greenville town board for 29 years but gave up the position in 1920 when, after the death of his wife, he came to live with his daughter here.

His was a familiar face around the Outagamie county courthouse during the last 12 years and he is believed to have attended all the important trials during that period. He was interested in politics and followed them closely. Mr. Ludwig was a member of the St. Paul Lutheran church.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Grapengieser; two stepsons, John Schroeder, Freedom, and Albert Schroeder, Iron River; 14 grandchildren and 30 great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Breitschneider Funeral home with the Rev. T. J. Sauer, pastor of the St. Paul Lutheran church, in charge. Burial will be in the Lutheran cemetery at Ellington. The body will be at the funeral home from Friday noon to the time of the funeral.

DEATHS

STILLMAN MANLEY

Stillman Manley, cheesemaker at the Outagamie Milk and Produce company, died unexpectedly of heart disease at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon while at work in the plant.

He was born in Neenah and lived there 20 years. For the last 10 years, he resided in Appleton. His address here was 201 S. Walnut street.

Survivors are one daughter, Marjorie, California; three sisters, Mrs. B. A. Bridgman, Eau Claire; Mrs. Neil, Woodworth, Los Angeles; Mrs. Charles Law, Portland, Ore.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Sorensen Funeral home in Neenah. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery, Neenah.

MRS. OLIVER P. HOYE

Miss Oliver P. Hoyer, the former Josie Cummings of Wrightstown, died at 11 o'clock this morning in Chisholm, Minn. The body will be brought to Menasha where funeral services will be held Saturday morning at St. Patrick Catholic church. Burial will be in St. Margaret Mary cemetery, Neenah.

Survivors are the widower and one son, Oliver, Jr. Mrs. Hoyer visited frequently in Menasha with her aunt, Mrs. Edward McCabe, 395 Pine street, Menasha.

NIET FUNERAL

Funeral services for Ernest Niet, 61, 1622 N. Alvin street, were held yesterday afternoon at Wichmann general home and at St. Paul Lutheran church with the Rev. T. J. Sauer in charge. Burial was in Riverside cemetery.

Bearers were Christ Getzried, Rudolph Krause, Anton Merkes, Henry Staedt, Walter Klitzke, and John Broch.

Green Bay School WPA Project Is Approved

Congressman George J. Schneider received word today from Washington, D. C., that a WPA project calling for a government grant of $2,844 has been approved for Green Bay. The project, sponsored by the Green Bay Vocational Board of Education, provides for the making of a master pupil card record system.

Sleeping Sickness Among Horses Assuming Epidemic Proportions

BY PAUL D. SHOEMAKER Associated Press Farm Editor

Chicago—(U)—Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the horse and mule association, urged farmers today to protect horses and mules from mosquitoes and biting flies, to prevent spread of equine encephalomyelitis, or sleeping sickness, which he said, is rapidly assuming epidemic proportions in north central states.

"At the moment the disease is more prevalent in Wisconsin than elsewhere," he said, "but is spreading to the south and east. There are sick horses in every Wisconsin county and scores are dying daily."

"The situation is serious in 20 northern Illinois counties and it is spreading into Indiana and Michigan. I have a report from Blue Earth county, Minn., which said about 500 and 600 horses have died in that country this year. The di-

Weatherman Hints At Light Showers

Dark Clouds Collect Today; Cool Temperatures Warn of Autumn

Dark clouds collected over the city early this afternoon, and the weatherman reported that light showers were probable late today or this evening. Temperatures will be warmer tonight, the Milwaukee bureau predicted, and tomorrow will be fair.

The weatherman today provided the annual warning that the household coal bin must be filled shortly, for early this morning the mercury stood at 52 degrees in Appleton.

Chicago's minimum was 62, according to the Associated Press, but there was still colder weather in other midwestern communities. Milwaukee reported 56, Green Bay 52, Wausau 48, and Houghton Lake in Michigan, 44.

For the 24-hour period ended at 9 o'clock this morning, the highest mark in the city was 74, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant.

St. Louis, Mo., was one of five cities to report a high of 100 degrees yesterday, hottest in the nation. Escanaba, Mich., reported 46.

Sewage Plant Employees Visit Sheboygan, Kohler

Members of the Fox River Valley chapter of the Wisconsin Conference of Sewage Plant Operators and Kohler and were guests of the Kohler company at dinner. Representing Appleton were C. O. Batz, superintendent, William Storm and Wenzel Bloch. The group inspected the Kohler company plant, the Kohler sewage treatment plant and the Sheboygan Treatment plant. Cities represented at the gathering were Appleton, Neenah-Menasha, Beaver Dam, Portage, Oshkosh, Green Bay and DePere.

Prisoners at County Detention Camp Will Set Out 30,000 Trees

Work of setting out about 30,000 Norway pine trees from the seed bed to the camp and nearby areas will be started in September, according to Lloyd Brooker, superintendent of the county detention camp. The camp has had an average of about four prisoners during the summer and they were kept busy at seed bed and garden work.

swim ashore he was caught in the current and reached the bank exhausted.

An airline official said it was believed there were only 17 persons aboard the plane, which left Hongkong yesterday for Chungking, one of China's temporary capitals. Earlier accounts said there were 19. All but woods were Chinese.

Search parties spread through the countryside around the scene of the attack in search for survivors. In addition to the Mindanao, which sped from Hongkong to Macao to help survivors, the rescue forces included a British gunboat and Chinese troops.

SERVES WARNING

Shanghai—(U)—A Japanese naval spokesman served warning today that any civilian plane flying over what Japan has designated as the war area of China was in danger of being shot down.

He declared that the airliner of the Chinese-American China National Aviation corporation which was forced down and machine-gunned by Japanese warplanes near Canton yesterday was mistaken for a Chinese bomber.

NAVY MEN DECORATED

Shanghai—(U)—Three United States navy men received today the navy department's highest decorations for heroism during the sinking of the U. S. S. Panay by Japanese aircraft Dec. 12, 1937.

They received the awards from Col. Charles F. B. Price, commanding the fourth United States Marines here. They were radio operator, first class, Charles Adams of Little Rock, Ark.; radio operator, second class, Reginald Peterson of Berkeley, Calif., and chief pharmacist's mate Thomas A. Coleman of Philadelphia.

CLAIM POISON GAS USED

London—(U)—China charged Japan today with "creating a grave situation" by the use of poison gas.

In a communication to the British foreign office, Quo Tai-Chi, Chinese ambassador to Great Britain, declared all but four members of two Chinese battalions were killed Monday when Japanese used poison gas to stop a Chinese counter-attack in northern Kiangsi province.

"Recourse to such methods of warfare," Quo declared, "are in violation of existing international conventions to which Japan is a signatory."

JAPS CLAIM VICTORY

Shanghai—(U)—A final, successful assault on Juichang, a major objective in the Japanese drive toward the provisional capital of Hankow, was reported this afternoon in a Japanese army communiqué.

The victory, the first notable Japanese advance since the invaders' occupation July 26 of Kukiang, a Yangtze river port 21 miles to the east, occurred in sweltering heat of 140 degrees.

Chinese military sources reported 30 Japanese warships steamed along Poyang lake, a large body of water lying between Kukiang and Nanchang, and heavily bombed Chinese shore positions near Wu-chang on the west bank.

Reports from Foochow, capital of Fukien province on the southeast coast of China, said marines from Japanese warships off Foochow seized and burned 17 Chinese junks with a great loss of life.

Chinese newspapers published accounts that three successive chairmen of the Japanese-sponsored local government of Pootung, Shanghai industrial section, had been captured and beheaded by Chinese guerrillas.

Koepe Company Begins Paving of River Street

Pouring of concrete on E. South River street was started this morning by the Koepe Brothers Construction company, according to Alfred Wickesberg, city engineer. Excavation and grading for project which includes four blocks on South River street, from Laws street to Onida street, has been completed. The paving crew started at Laws street and is working west. A 22-foot pavement will be laid up to the top of the South River street hill where the pavement will be reduced to 28 feet.

G. O. P. Chairman Says Roosevelt Spoke With 'Tongue in His Cheek'

Washington—(U)—Republican Chairman John Hamilton contends that President Roosevelt "must have had his tongue in cheek" when he criticized Republican participation in Democratic primaries.

Issuing a statement shortly after two Democratic senators—Brown of Michigan and Sheppard of Texas—had expressed agreement with the president's comment, Hamilton said last night:

"Taken seriously, Mr. Roosevelt's remarks constitute an indictment of the election laws of a number of sovereign states."

"No Conclusive Proof"

"If Republicans have or intend to participate in Democratic primaries—and there is no conclusive proof that they have or so intend—it has been and will be in accordance with the provisions of state laws."

Meanwhile, Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex) of the senate campaign expenditure committee received from the Workers Alliance an explanation of its plans for spending a $50,000 fund it proposes to raise from contributions by WPA workers and others.

Sheppard said he told David Lasser, president of the alliance, in a conference today he felt the fund might constitute a "border line" case violating the law governing solicitation of persons receiving federal compensation. He said he would present Lasser's explanation to the committee.

Explains Purpose

Lasser said the alliance did not propose to contribute to any candidate's campaign fund, but would spend the money on its own political activities.

"We want to emphatically declare that not one penny of this money will be turned over to any candidate for office," Lasser's written statement said. It added that the money would be used in "general furtherance of our purpose—which is to make it clear to the unemployed and WPA workers what the political issues are in the campaign and where the interests of the unemployed and WPA workers lie."

The president's denunciation of the crossing of party lines in primaries was provoked by the Idaho Democratic primary, in which Senator James P. Pope lost to Representative D. Worth Clark, a self-styled conservative.

Friends of Pope, a New Dealer, declared many Republicans voted for Clark. Pope is considering running as an independent in November.

To Support Nominee

The question of whether the Democratic senatorial campaign committee would support Clark against Pope was put yesterday to Senator Brown, its chairman. He replied that the committee would support the regular party nominee in any state unless "strong evidence" showed fundamental wrongs in primary procedure.

Brown announced the committee would take part in campaigns in middle west and northeastern states. He named Iowa, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and New Hampshire as "close states" on which it would concentrate.

Driver Found Guilty Of Using Poor Lights

Walter Hillsberg, route 1, Bonduel, was found guilty of driving his car at night with insufficient lights, and was fined $25 and costs with an alternative of 60 days in the county detention camp by Judge Thomas H. "the final Test is TONE"

Says the Editor of Piano Trade Magazine

True musical tone is really the primary reason for the existence of a Piano. If tone has been sacrificed for lower prices, or made secondary to attractive styling of the case, the chief asset is missing. "Tone," says Editor Roy L. Waite, "is the yardstick of piano quality and value." Continuing, this eminent authority makes the following observation on

—the Tone of Steinway Pianos

"We in the piano business know that the purchaser of a Steinway piano, for instance, gets more value per dollar of investment than does the purchaser of a low-priced piano... Every smart piano man publicly bows to Steinway & Sons for the quality of their piano... and while on this subject, it may again be said that Steinway pianos of today, size for size, are superior to any Steinways ever made."

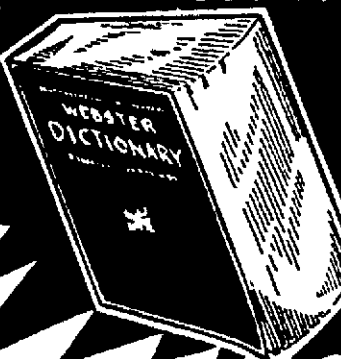

It is therefore economy to put your piano dollars into the piano whose Tone has made Steinway the chosen instrument of the great musicians of the last century.

NO. 1 ECONOMIC PROBLEM

The President insists that the country shall now face and solve what he calls its "number one economic problem"—the alleged poverty and backwardness of the south.

That the President should elect to treat this claimed problem at precisely the time he asks southern voters to swing along with him in purging the senate of men who are personally obnoxious to him, is bound to force itself upon the attention of the people.

There is such a thing as becoming too smooth a politician. Mr. Roosevelt's most intimate friends claim he is the slickest in the business. Nevertheless the report of the National Emergency Council, whether created just for political effect or brought forth just when needed, should be considered upon its merits.

This survey declares that the annual industrial wage in the south is $865 as compared to $1219 in the rest of the country; and that the average income of all classes in the south per annum is $314 whereas the rest of the country has $604.

Thus it is evident that the tenant farmer class has brought the southern average to but little more than half the rest of the country whereas industrial wages rise up to 70 per cent.

The report is an extensive affair dealing with many phases of the problem and numerous pretended remedies, some of which are wholly inconsistent with others. Thus it deprecates the substitution of machinery, tractors and gang-plows and then in the next breath assails conditions that make possible the fact that with "29 per cent of the population the south has only 16 per cent of the machines and tools" which the country contains and that "with more than half the nation's farmers" the south has less than one-fifth of the farm implements.

In respect to present day trends it is noticeable that the south has depended on cotton and tobacco for two-thirds of its cash income, that something more than half of its farmers have depended on cotton alone, and that the cotton market is a very uncertain affair.

We wonder whether the political aspects present in all our problems do not result in a great exaggeration of woe. Certainly cotton growers have stuck to their cotton fields in spite of conditions because they consider them to be whiter than painted, and without intending to pun.

At any rate the Administration's cotton restriction program has undeniably done more to destroy permanently the cotton planter than any one single thing inasmuch as it has stimulated the growth of cotton abroad to unheard of amounts, has produced less work than ever to the shambling tenant farmers, increased unemployment therefore at home, and built up competition abroad that will never die.

Who can doubt after five full years of the Roosevelt regime that its labor and agricultural policies have hurt most that very part of the country upon whose shoulder it is now weeping and over whose future it expresses such piteous concern?

Of course it is true that by subsidizing the dairy business in the South some apparent assistance will be employed which, in turn, will drag the dairy states down as much or more as the South may be assisted. But below the Ohio such a policy, blind though it may be, is likely to be popular since it brings hope, and hope provides distraction and distraction.

TRUCKS AND TRAINS

Until the passage of the Motor Carrier Act three years ago there was no control whatever over motor trucking except in those few states that sought to bring order out of chaos, and they did not act very effectively.

The Motor Carrier Act empowers the Interstate Commerce Commission, among other things, to declare minimum standards for insurance, equipment, pay and working hours but until just recently the Commission failed to establish minimum rates for trucks and was satisfied to merely file the schedules filed by trucking companies and let the companies do as they pleased about rates.

But now the Commission has raised the freight rates charged by motor trucks in the states bordering on the Atlantic in order to prevent highly injurious rate cutting which was destroying both the truck lines and the railroads and disturbing constantly the price at which produce could be sold to the customer, depending, as that price often does, upon carrier charges.

The regulation of truck companies is a tremendous affair. It is estimated that we have well over 100,000 such companies in this country engaged in interstate commerce although many of them handle but a trivial amount of business. On the other hand we only have about 100 extensive railroads whose rates could have any effect upon the country at large.

Our laws have held the railroads to a rigorous compliance with freight schedules. Until now they have given the truck companies as much latitude as they could take. In this respect the laws have been accomplices in the destruction of the railroads just as effectively as the man who punions another's arms behind him while a confederate makes off with his purse.

Although the job of regulation is big there is no reason why both trucks and railroads should not live together in prosperity. We need stability of work in these transportation systems, stability of pay and stability of hours, and the country could certainly use the much greater stability in general industry that would be occasioned upon a settlement of the 20-year-old conflict between the carriers of the nation's goods.

But there can be little of stability until just treatment of all is established as a basis.

CANADA, MEXICO AND AMERICA

Because of the language employed by President Monroe in 1823 and the then existing circumstances in international affairs a rather classical debate may result as to whether the Monroe Doctrine was intended to apply to Canada. But there is little opportunity to disagree with Mr. Roosevelt that we could not stand idly by while the Dominion to our north was shackled and thereby our own future became threatened and imperiled.

It will be said that we have become aligned with the British Empire and that England will become greatly strengthened in respect to affairs on the continent when she knows that this far outpost of hers is secure under our watchful eye.

We cannot consider such consequences, be they good or bad. Our attitude must be determined fairly and frankly by our own self interest. In the present situation of world affairs it is not inconceivable that a conquest of Canada may develop either through the defeat of Britain in some other arena of war or by direct attack upon the Dominion. Such a result, of course, is not very probable but world attitudes must be based upon possibilities.

The very mention of alien dictatorial forms of government taking over Canada should make us sit up to a full realization of the consequences of certain policies and our own responsibilities in respect to world order.

For Canada would be no more dangerous as a breeding ground for those who threaten our freedom than Mexico. And the seeming collapse of Cardenas's socialist ventures south of the Rio Grande, and the hunger and misery that now attend the Mexican people, begin to shape fascist over-lordism as a likely salvation.

Since the oil confiscation brought about economic disaster Mexico has gradually gravitated into the circle with Japan and Germany, turns over her oil to tankers belonging to the former for delivery to the latter and receives in return products manufactured along the Rhine. In result the Mexican oil wells now belong to German industry for, insofar as they function, they operate for her benefit though at reduced prices on a deal that is highly beneficial to Germany though detrimental to Mexico and an absolute loss to America.

It is not impossible that Mr. Roosevelt by circular command meant to warn off those who have become increasingly interested in all the countries to the south of us. By speaking to the north he might conclude the southward echo would be sufficiently potent for all purposes.

There is no jingoism in such an address. We hope there is a fuller realization that America cannot expect to go unspared through the centuries unless it sets itself a reasonable task and performs it.

Its present task, entirely consistent with its power, safety and traditions, is order in the Western Hemisphere. Disorder invites attack both in providing provocation abroad and insuring weakness at home.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

"WHEN THE BABY COMES"

There are few sentences that start
Without the phrase that hums
Within the confines of her heart:
"When the baby comes?"

The world that is so achingly
And beautifully sweet
Will be a perfect world when she
Is followed by small feet.

There is much planning left to do;
A little trip to buy:
A room, to furnish with a view
Of garden and blue sky.

She bends her dark young head above
A garment fine and white,
And into it she sews her love
And dreams of pews her delight.

That is the little girl that we
Last year helped with her sums.
Who plans, while smiling up at me,
"When the baby comes?"

DALE HARRISON'S
In Old New York

New York—Ghetto scene: Her hair was the longest, blackest and silkiest I have ever seen. It belonged on the head of some great lady. It fairly shrouded for a diadem and for the painstaking touch of the expert hairdresser. Yet I was standing in the heat of the lower East Side, midst smells and poverty and suffering; and the Lady with the Beautiful Hair was leaning from a third story window of a tawdry tenement.

I wondered if she knew how beautiful it was. Some feminine instinct must have told her, for it fell in luxuriance over her shoulders, framing a face old beyond its years and utterly tired.

Beauty in a tenement window. Beauty lost, for who down here would know it? I wondered if her husband were bright enough to know. I felt sure he wasn't. No man with a wife so beautifully crowned could ever be content to keep her hidden down here.

Uptown, on Fifth Avenue, fine ladies would pay a fancy price for such a head of hair. Mr. A. Simonson, the wigmaker, told me that; and Mr. Simonson has been buying heads of hair for 50 years—buying them, then selling them to Ladies whose own locks are inadequate, and even to balding men, vainer even than the women.

But Simonson, who doubtless is one of the world's best markets for human hair, doesn't shop in the Ghetto. It is in Europe that he harvests the hair crop, and it sounds rather gruesome but really isn't.

Traders specializing in the business travel about in the villages in certain parts of Europe, buying hair from peasant girls who use the money their hair brings as part of their marriage dowry. This has been going on, Simonson said, for generations. Mothers, who themselves have sold their hair, impress their daughters with the necessitating of taking special care.

American ladies, who aren't as careful about such things themselves, ought to curtsy to the peasant girls; but they don't, and that's life. American ladies don't waste much thought on peasant girls who love for their peasant sweethearts is so great that they are willing to sacrifice their crowning treasure for them.

Men are big buyers of wigs, too, and it is girls' hair that goes into their toupees. They are even fussier than the ladies. Consequently Simonson is called upon to make toupees that will stay in place even if the wearer goes in bathing; and he says it is surprising how men insist that a wig be such that they can comb it while it is on their heads. They like to make their friends think it is real, the deceitful wretches.

Each individual hair is separately sewed to a lace base which is made to the customer's head measurements. Simonson says what little natural hair a man may have can be exactly matched. Some fellows made such a fetish of their phony toupees that they get new ones every few years, each succeeding wig adding a bit of grey. Thus even in their toupees, the fellows make acknowledgment to the ravages of time.

Simonson keeps a complete record of every wig, so that replacements can be made without a second "fitting." One lady in Georgia wrote the other day: "Last night my home burned down, and I lost nearly everything, including my transformation. Please rush another, solid grey, at once, as I cannot see anyone in my present condition."

Memo from Me to (1) "Reader," Covington, Tenn., and (2) "Down and Out in Louisiana": Your messages, etc., have been passed on to Buster B—. I know you'll be interested in a line Buster has just written me: "At this writing I am feeling very good, gaining weight every week, and it won't be long until I'm back to my normal weight."

I think I was about 12 years old before I saw my first streetcar and stared in wonder at its yellow elegance. Today the streetcar, like the horse, is pretty much of a curiosity. There is still a trolley rattle-de-banging up and down Broadway at odd intervals, looking forlorn and woebegone as the buses dart by; and there are a few other streetcar lines on Manhattan.

Nevertheless, one can live in New York today and travel over a good part of the town without seeing a streetcar and it's a safe wager that even the Elevateds will be torn down before another quarter century passes.

I'd like to swing the first ax.

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Aug. 23, 1928

Word was received that Frank Shattuck, Jr., with his boat "Nantuck," won fourth place in the Class E boat race held the previous morning at Lake Geneva where the Inland Lakes Yacht association regatta was being held. Shattuck was a Neenah entry.

Ten more members of Co. D, 127 Infantry, were ordered to the company machine gun range Saturday to fire record qualification tests. The men who were to fire Sunday were Sergeants Lawrence Kampf and Robert Currie, Corporals Clarence Christian, Charles Peercboom, John Green, Earl Zwick and Privates Albert Neuenfeldt, Leonard Ryan, Oliver Tracy and George Theyle.

An Appleton horse, Uncle Tom, owned by Dr. William Madison, won two firsts in the three heats of the second division of the 2:24 trot at the Seymour fair that week.

Hundreds of wild ducks were again flocking to the rapids and quiet waters of the Fox river in the Thousand Island district, just west of the city limits of Kaukauna.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Aug. 28, 1913

An exhibition swimming race between Oscar Kunitz, who won the championship of Wisconsin at the Milwaukee river marathon, and Oswald Rolfs, another entry in the state event, was to feature the Trades and Labor council picnic at Waverly Beach Sept. 1. Over 1,200 were expected to attend the event.

Prof. Frederick Vance Evans, the newly elected director of Lawrence Conservatory of Music, arrived in Appleton that day and began to make arrangements for the opening of college in September.

Twenty-two Montana horses were sold at auction yesterday at the Earl Lutz farm on Lake road. Eugene Campbell acted as auctioneer and succeeded in getting $1,900 for the bunch. John Van Roy bought what was considered the best horse in the lot for $167.

A new time clock was installed at the post office the previous day which would facilitate checking the time of the government employees and would show at a glance just what part of the force was on duty.

A Bystander
In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—From a liquor standpoint this country is turning into a legislative Balkans.

State arrays itself against state, enacting first one law and then another to shut out the competitive liquor. Already it is down to a point where various states seem to be in need of reciprocal trade treaties.

It all started with the 21st amendment to the Constitution which provides, as a protection to the dry states, that no liquor could be imported into a state in violation of its laws. That sounded just fine to all concerned until California (these native sons are enterprising) enacted a law imposing a $500 tax on wholesalers bringing beer into the state from other states.

In effect it was simply a tariff to protect California beer brewers. Evidently nobody had thought of that possibility arising out of the 21st amendment. But it did. And the Supreme Court said the act was strictly in accord with the last amendment, even if it did upset that earlier part of the Constitution which prohibited any state setting up barriers to commerce among the states.

Follow the Leader

California, with plenty of wine to sell, soon saw a warning light and repealed its law, but the seed was sown. Other states began taking it up. Indiana imposed a $1,500 special tax on wholesalers who imported out-of-state beer, and Minnesota added some flourishes by prohibiting import of hard liquor unless it was either a patented brand or had been re-pressed in Minnesota after importation.

The Minnesota law came quickly to the Supreme Court and brought out one of the strangest colloquies the Supreme Court has heard in days. The following quotations are not exact but the substance is there:

"Minnesota argues," said the state attorney general in effect "that it may impose any terms it chooses upon the importation of liquor and it will be constitutional under the 21st amendment."

"Do you mean," asked Chief Justice Hughes in effect, "that if Minnesota says that out-of-state liquor may be imported only by people who wear a certain kind of clothes, such legislation will be valid? Let me put it another way. Do you mean that the state could enact a law permitting importation of liquor only by those who voted a certain way, and it would be valid?"

The state attorney general thought that one over for a long moment, then answered: "Yes."

And what happened? The Supreme Court upheld the Minnesota law.

Confusion Confounded

But the thing has now become even more entangled. Missouri is already tired of having its liquor shut out of state after state. Missouri makes several prominent brands of beer. So it said, in effect, that any state which enacts legislation discriminating against Missouri liquor can't ship its liquor into Missouri. Michigan enacted a similar law.

Immediately five prominent distilleries, including the big Schenley outfit, brought suit against Missouri to test the constitutionality of such a law. The Indianapolis Brewing Company brought similar suit against the Michigan liquor commission.

Lower federal courts have upheld both the Michigan and Missouri acts and the liquor makers have appealed to the Supreme Court.

A NEW COURTHOUSE

Editor Post-Crescent: There is a movement being thrown before this county suggesting the building a new Court House. The important question is: Who asks it?

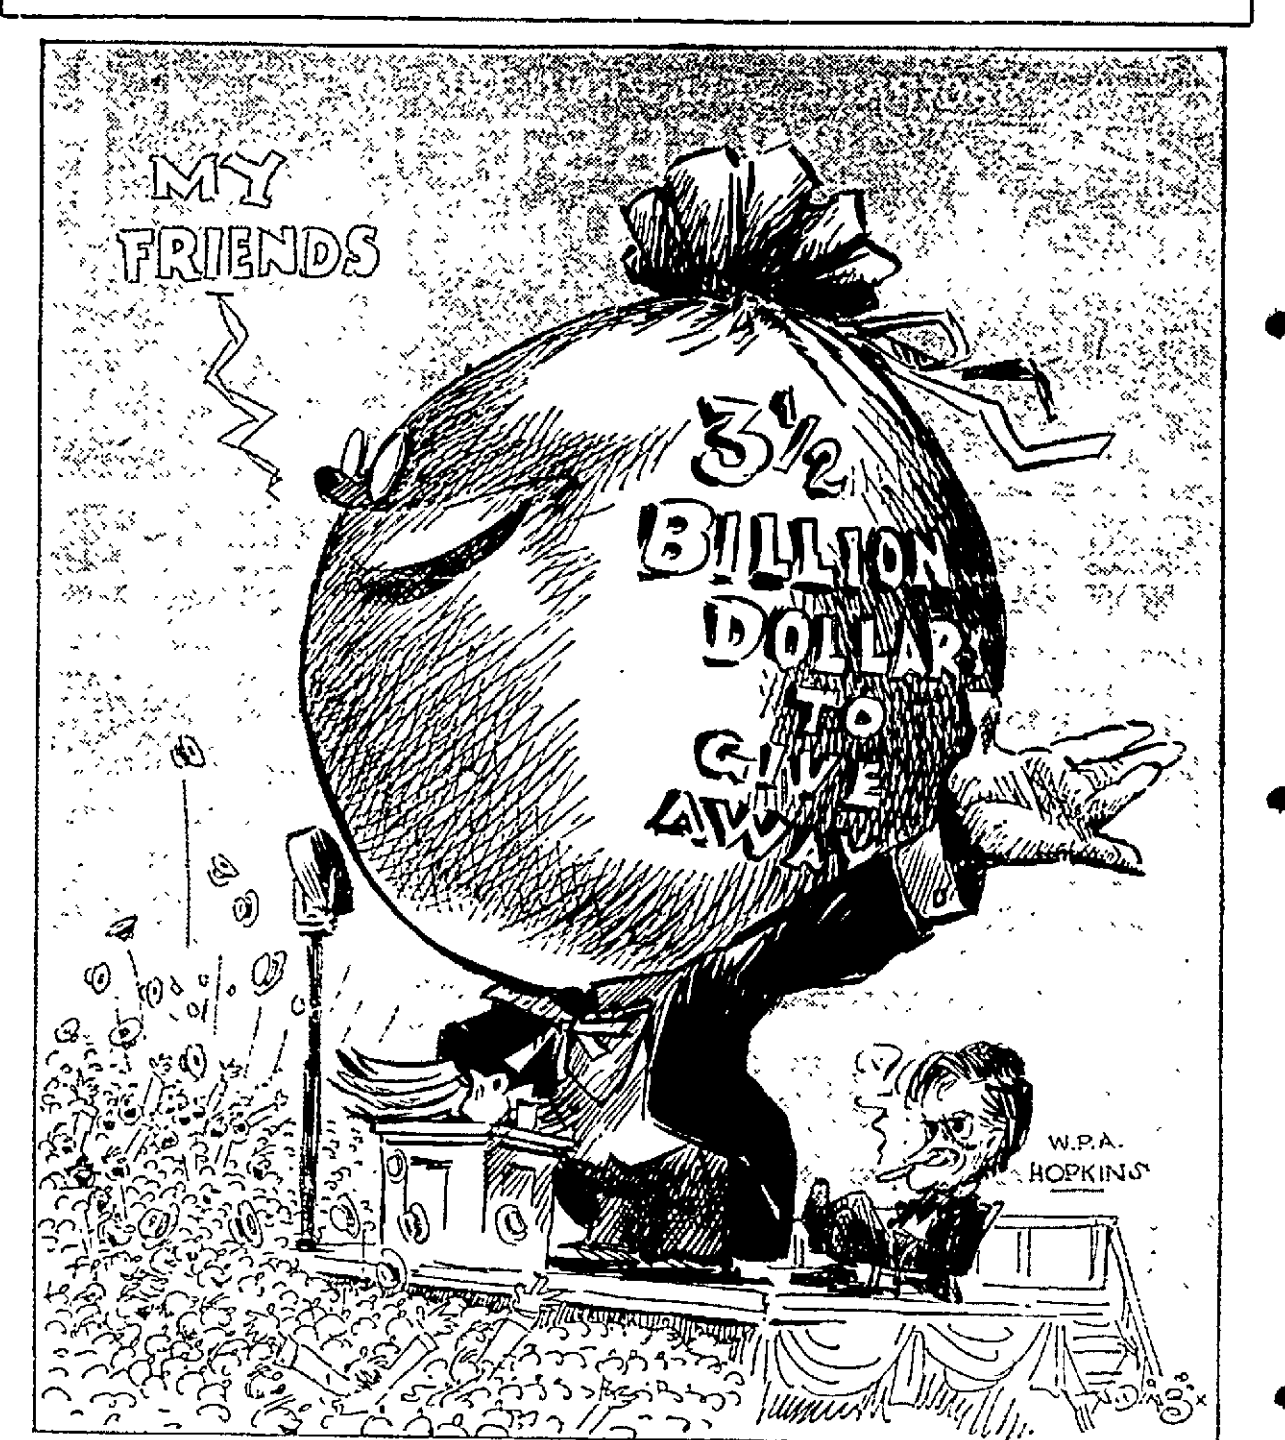

The apparent answer is, the attorneys, or bar association (some of them) and some friends, with but one apparent reason: that this building does not provide suitable protection from fire for all the important records. But would it require a half million dollars to provide this?

They say too, this building does not give suitable fire protection for the occupants, but they all asked for the positions without this complaint, which protection could be had by additional outside fire escapes and be as safe as a new building.

They say that money for building can be secured now at a very low interest rate, assuming that the public might take an additional indebtedness. Some fifteen years ago the County Board voted to raise a Specific Court House Fund by a general tax levy, but when it reached about one hundred thirty-five thousand, the County Board, unlawfully, used about ninety thousand of it for other purposes.

We are told that our National debt is forty billion dollars, and that we have one hundred thirty millions of people to pay it, which means that each man, woman and child must pay seven and one half dollars as their share of every one billion, and to cover the forty billions will require the payment of three hundred by each or that the head of every family of four people must pay one thousand two hundred dollars of the national debt.

Then we have the salaries of many hundreds of thousands public officials to pay annually, including those of our county, also the care of the sick, helpless and dependents, the schools, roads and general costs, our own living and indebtedness, and if not paid when taxes are collectable our families and children lose their home.

Those working on salaries say—We can pay that, but those engaged in industries and business who carry the financial burdens of the country requiring their every day struggle and energy, say—No, we can't do it. To make debts for following generations to pay is no business method because they, and their time will have their own problems without paying for the luxuries of others in the past.

A new river dam, not needed for any purpose, is now being built by the National Government in the state of Washington, to cost a sum equal to a three dollar payment for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Who will be the persons to travel this County asking the people to build a new Court House, or to vote it upon the public.

Watch and see.

Your Birthday

"VIRGO"

If August 26 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 to 11:15 a. m.; from 3:15 to 5:15 p. m. and from 7:15 to 9:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:15 to 9:15 a. m.; from 5:15 to 7:15 p. m. and from 9:15 p. m. until midnight.

You are apt to be successful in anything you undertake seriously this day. New enterprises launched this day are surrounded by unusually auspicious conditions; and if they are backed by sufficient capital they should be money-makers. Social aspirations have every chance of being realized, and through them much happiness may make this a memorable day. If you are face to face with some matter that seems to call for extreme or conservative action, it might be well to adopt a middle course. This is a poor day to try to jog along in a commonplace fashion in any affair that calls for dispatch and decision. You must display interest in people and things in general if you wish this to be an enjoyable day. Married and engaged couples, and those whose wooing is meeting with encouragement, must be very tactful in voicing any opinion that they know in advance will not be well received.

If a woman and August 26 is your birthday, bear in mind that Wednesday ought to be the luckiest day in the week for you, especially in any transaction involving money. You most likely will win plenty of well-deserved praise by doing some good work of a decidedly original nature. Being rather emotional you might make a great success in dramatic work. Be careful that vanity does not turn your head, and cause you to lose some very worthwhile friends. Never let social ambitions prompt you to slight people whose loyalty and interest in you have been demonstrated in the past. Ingratitude is one fault you must never be guilty of, if you would avoid some future unhappy moments. As an artist, musician, teacher, actress, singer, or sales agent your achievements may meet with gratifying success. You probably will select a husband whose loyalty and devotion can be depended upon.

The child born on August 26 is likely in its childhood to make friends who will serve it well throughout life. This youngster's enterprising spirit should easily overcome obstacles and lead to success.

If a man and August 26 is your natal day, you ought to be equally popular with men and women. You likely have the knack of inspiring confidence. As a dentist, doctor, lawyer, architect, builder, politi-

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

UNCONSIDERED FACTOR OF DEFORMITY

In a contribution to Archives of Pediatrics (hygiene and diseases of children) an orthopedic surgeon (one who treats deformities, more particularly deformities involving bones or joints) says:

"A tendency to pes valgus (flat-foot) may be found in later childhood. Between the ages of 10 and 14 the child may become overweight because of endocrine disturbances."

"Endocrine disturbances" — one of those ten-dollar phrases used by doctors when we have no definite notion what we're talking about. Endocrine is a fancy term for the internal secretion of a gland—such as thyroid, adrenal, pituitary, insulin, etc. The orthopedist continues: "... Muscular and ligamentous weakness is frequently associated with it, giving rise to pronated feet..."

"Pronated feet"—weak ankles, ankles roll inward when child stands or walks; inner borders of soles and heels wear down first.

"... During this period the child may grow too rapidly, leaving the supporting structures deficient. Postural defects will soon become obvious — round shoulders, curved spines and, naturally, pronated ankles. While the endocrine balance..."

The "balance" is thrown in to make it more puzzling.

"... calls for general therapy."

"Therapy" is ditto deluxe for treatment.

"... the postural faults require mechanical correction. Permanent malformation may result if they remain overlooked or untreated."

That functional insufficiency on the part of ductless glands, especially the parathyroid glands, occurs in such growing children, is quite conceivable. But why does it occur? Surely not because the children are growing or growing too fast. I do not flatter myself that I know the answer, but I believe the underlying, generally unconsidered factor of these faults of development or potential deformities—pronated or weak feet, flatfoot, knock-knee, bowlegs, spinal curvature, round shoulders—is nutritional deficiency. I believe shortage of calcium and phosphorus in the intake is mainly responsible for these physical defects or deformities. From the study of nutrition we know that an adequate daily ration of sunshine vitamin D is essential for the assimilation and utilization or retention of calcium and phosphorus in the body. From scientific observations upon school children in England we have evidence that the greatest demand for calcium and phosphorus comes in the period from 10 to 18 years, and it is precisely during this period of growth that children show the greatest amount of dental caries, cavities, decay of teeth.

The correction of any of these developmental faults or potential deformities requires carefully supervised exercises and individually adapted mechanical apparatus, and these can be effectively prescribed and applied only by the physician who treats such cases. But in all cases the value of an optimal daily ration of sunshine vitamin D is fundamental, both as preventive and as corrective. It can do no harm in any case where there is muscular,

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Calcium and Vitamin D for Hay Fever

Grocers here do not have the pure molasses without sulphur dioxide, only sorghum. Is that what you mean? What source of vitamin D and calcium do you advise for hay fever that is not fattening? (Miss T. B.)

Answer—Send three-cent-stamped envelope bearing your address, for name of molasses containing no sulphur dioxide, and ask for monograph on hay fever, calcium feeding, vitamins everybody needs. Hay fever is usually not fattening.

New City Book

I regard the revised issue of your No. 5 Little Lesson "Call it Cris" as invaluable. I wish to present copies to a list of friends. Have benefited greatly from the advice for sinus trouble. The "fool proof cough medicine" is now a standby in our family. (C.H.D.)

Answer—"Call it Cris" is a 70-page booklet dealing with acute respiratory infections, chronic catarrh, sinusitis, bronchitis, ozema, tonsils and adenoids, polyp and what have you. For copy send twenty-five cent coin and stamped envelope bearing your address.

Lead Poisoning

Does lead poisoning cause the skin to turn yellow and peel, like pellagra? (C. D. Charleston.)

Answer—Not as a rule, the one with chronic lead poisoning may have pellagra if her diet is deficient. Quart of milk a day is probably best assurance against pellagra; it is excellent protection against the more active manifestations of chronic lead poisoning.

Terms Isolationism

Poor National Policy

Milwaukee—(T)—Isolationism is dangerous and even barbaric as a national policy. Carl J. Hambro, president of the Norwegian parliament, told the Fossegrim lodge of the Sons of Norway last night.

"For promotion of peace, the open door and hospitality is necessary," he said. "A grave political situation will arise if European countries continue to lock their doors and refuse to permit their citizens even to read foreign newspapers."

Hambro added:

"We in the northern countries do not believe in isolation. We have learned the lesson that if one wants to sell he has to buy. Isolation is dangerous and even barbaric. National civilization is a product of mental, spiritual, commercial and industrial intercourse with other nations."

Rules School Districts

In City Can't be Altered

Madison—(P)—Attorney General Orland S. Loomis informed John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction, today that city school districts cannot be altered or consolidated.

The opinion, requested in order to clarify the legal rights of the city of Rhineland in respect to the town of Pelican, Oneida county, said "the legislature has made no provision for the alteration or consolidation of city school districts."

Reveal Date Of Wedding At Shower

THE date for Miss Mary Maxine Hackett's wedding to Vincent Norman Beschta was revealed last night at a coin shower given by Mr. Beschta's aunt and godmother, Mrs. H. P. Lettewich, 303 S. Mason street. The marriage will take place at 9 o'clock this morning of Sept. 5 at St. Joseph's Catholic church.

Cards were played at the party last night, prizes going to Mrs. Emma Geibel, Menasha, Mrs. William Wenzel, Mrs. Mike Spellman, Menasha, and Mrs. Oscar Kuhn, Menasha. Also received the special prize. During the course of the evening, congratulations were read from Mr. Beschta's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kamp, and his uncle, Norman Kamp, all three of whom are living at Pasadena, Calif.

Mrs. Adam Schlueter, Mrs. Edgar Bayer and Mrs. Herbert Franz, all of Menasha, were present at the shower. Mr. Beschta's home is in Chilton Saturday evening, in honor of Miss Eunice Eldred, whose marriage to George Steinmetz will take place Sept. 3. Forty-five guests were present, and the evening was spent playing buncos. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Gilbert Schein, Mrs. Frank Ludwig, Miss Ellen Jaeger and Mrs. Louis Manderscheid.

Mrs. H. G. Meyer, 815 E. Winnebago street, entertained at a miscellaneous shower last night at her home in honor of her daughter, Jane, whose marriage to Arthur Bunko, Ripon, will take place Sept. 1. Six tables of cards were in play, prizes at bridge going to Mrs. L. B. Benjamin, Milwaukee, and Miss Betty Maas, at schafkopf to Mrs. Ed Hoffman and Mrs. Elmer Brockman, and at dice to Mrs. John Laux and Mrs. Richard Laux.

Other out-of-town guests were Mrs. Clara Weber, Oshkosh, and Mrs. Gordon Laux, Kaukauna.

Miss Mary Reimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reimer, Greenville, who will be married Sept. 14 to Elmer Collar, Hortonville, was honored at a miscellaneous shower given Wednesday night by Mrs. Arthur Kollath and Mrs. Ira Bellhouse at the former's home, 1913 N. Superior street. Card games and a mock wedding provided the evening's entertainment. Prizes at 500 went to Mrs. Lucille Jackson and Miss Mary Reimer and at schafkopf to Miss Mary Dehn and Mrs. John Van Stippen.

Miss Emily Kugel, Neenah, entertained at a dinner and bridge party Wednesday night at Butte des Morts Golf club in honor of Miss Florence Hauser, Neenah, whose marriage to A. C. Anderson, Hamilton, Ont., Canada, will take place next month. Miss La Nora Meyer, Oshkosh, was an out-of-town guest. Twelve persons were present.

Mrs. F. M. Foor, 1008 E. Wisconsin avenue, entertained yesterday afternoon and evening at her home in honor of her guest, Miss Verna Jumps, Palatine, Ill., who left for her home today. Supper was served and the time was spent informally. The guests included Mrs. Helen Randerson, Appleton, Mrs. Anton Rieth, Miss Ruth Wolf, Miss Lottie McCarty, Miss Marie Muholland and Miss Maud Haas, Kaukauna.

The Misses Genevieve McGahn, 1427 N. Oneida street, and Cecilia Kern, route 1, Appleton and Gus Schroeder, route 1, Appleton, entertained jointly last night at Koch's Palm Garden in celebration of their birthday anniversaries. About 125 persons were present and dancing provided entertainment.

Mrs. George Hamilton, 205 N. Richmond street, entertained at a surprise birthday party Tuesday night at her home for her daughter, Mrs. A. Kohl, E. Pacific street. Four tables of dice were in play, prizes going to Mr. Walter Gilbert and Mrs. Margaret Kohl.

Mrs. Della Taylor, 625 E. Hancock street, was hostess at a family garden party and picnic yesterday afternoon at the home of her home. About 100 persons were present. Out-of-town guests were Frank E. Franz, Milwaukee, and Carl E. Franz, Milwaukee. The Woodlands and the La Sorey, Iowa, and Mrs. William Anthers, Waukegan, Ill., were also present. Mrs. Woodlands and her daughter have been visiting in Appleton for more than a week. Mr. Anthers arrived yesterday and will remain until Sunday.

A party was given last night at the home of Joseph Reitzner, 714 W. Harris street, in honor of his mother who celebrated her 80th birthday. Cards and games provided entertainment. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hickmabotham and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reitzner, Mr. and Mrs. Hickmabotham, Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Storer and Mr. and Mrs. H. Parsh, all of the Ford Hardacker, and prizes at bridge and cards were awarded. The schafkopf was awarded at the card party sponsored by American Legion auxiliary Wednesday afternoon at the Legion club house. Eight tables were in play.

MARRIAGE LICENSES
Application for marriage licenses has been made at the office of John E. Hanisch, Outagamie county clerk, by William Heck, Kaukauna; and Annette Schwiner, Kaukauna; Arthur C. Badtke, route 2, Ripon; and Jane B. Meyer, Appleton; Clarence A. Kohl, route 2, Appleton; and Marie Vanden Boogart, Little Chute; Claude Peebles, Sugar Bush, and Fern Brisco, Bear Creek.

Qualify for Club Golf Tournament

MISS MARJORIE JACOBSON was now qualified with a score of 99 as Butte des Morts Golf club women qualified Wednesday at their weekly ladies' day for the women's championship tournament which is to be played this week. Miss Mary Zelle's score of 118 was low in the first flight.

Prizes for the tournament are as follows:

Championship flight—Miss Marjorie Jacobson vs. Mrs. Carl Holstrom, Miss Margaret Plank vs. Mrs. Arthur Lemke, Mrs. E. H. Foulk vs. Mrs. Lawrence Koepke, and Miss Marian Kianhold vs. Mrs. D. J. Considine.

First flight—Miss Mary Zelle vs. Mrs. H. C. Hilton; Mrs. H. M. Brown vs. Miss Zetta Mortell; Mrs. Jack Burnham vs. Mrs. Roy Sund; and Mrs. Don Morrissey vs. Mrs. Stephan Konz.

The tournament committee for yesterday's ladies' day was made up of Mrs. William Kelm and Mrs. Stanley Hamilton.

REEDSVILLE Chicken Dinner and Supper at St. Mary's Church Parlor

Reedsville—A chicken dinner and supper at St. Mary's Church Parlor, Sun., Aug. 28.

With the arrival at the camp on Tuesday of the Rev. William E. Grote, Elgin, Ill., religious services at the camp are being carried out as scheduled, excepting that on Wednesday afternoon the Rev. Theodore Jordan of Marinette was obliged to substitute for the Rev. G. W. Reichert of North Fond du Lac who is ill. The Rev. Mr. Grote preaches evangelistic sermons at the evening sessions, besides addressing ministerial meetings in the morning. He will preach at the noon, afternoon and evening services on Sunday, when the assembly closes.

A Pontiac sedan belonging to Leonard Mowry of Black Creek, stolen at the camp last Sunday evening, has been located at Newberry, Mich., according to Calumet county authority. The thief was apprehended on his way to Canada.

WILL WED RIPON MAN

Miss Jane Meyer, above, will be separated from her twin sister, Jean for the first time when she leaves Appleton, Sept. 1, as the bride of Arthur Badtke, Ripon, to make her future home in Chester, Iowa. Winnebago street. (Post-Crescent Photo.)

Former Postmaster Visits at Hilbert

Hilbert—Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Holtz were called to Milwaukee Monday evening by the death of the former's brother-in-law, Edward Wilde who died about 4 o'clock that afternoon. They were accompanied by their son Frommold and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Laughlin who had stopped here for a short visit as they were enroute home from a 10-day vacation trip to Denver, Col. Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Zimmer and family of Washington, D. C., visited with old friends here Tuesday. They arrived here from Gresham where they had visited relatives and left Wednesday for Plymouth, where they will stay before turning home. Mr. Zimmer served as postmaster here for about nine years. His term expired in the spring of 1934.

An interesting game of baseball will be played Sunday afternoon at Stockbridge between Stockbridge team and Plymouth. Hilbert lost to Stockbridge last Sunday and Chilton lost to Plymouth. Plymouth must win to stay in the championship race while a victory for the Stockbridge team would give them undisputed honors in both halves and as a result they would be champions.

Arthur Depies, commander of the American Legion at Hilbert, and Mrs. Frieda Depies, president of the Legion Auxiliary, have notified the members of the Legion and Auxiliary that a joint picnic will be held Sunday, Aug. 28 at the new Calumet county park for members and their families. Softball and other games will make up the program.

Mother, Daughter Banquet Planned At Clintonville

Methodist Ladies Aid Society to Sponsor Fifth Annual Event

Clintonville—The fifth annual "Mother and Daughter" banquet will be given by the Methodist Ladies Aid society at 6:30 Thursday evening, Sept. 1, at the church dining room. A program is being arranged by the committee in charge. Miss Rose Milbauer is spending this week at Milwaukee at the home of her sister, Mrs. Paul J. Singer. Richard Phelan has returned to the Land O' Lakes in northern Wisconsin after spending the first part of the week with friends in this city. Phelan, a graduate of Clintonville high school with the class of 1938, plans to enter St. Norbert's college at West DePere this fall. Charles Binder of this city, a county supervisor, is spending this week at Milwaukee, where he has charge of the Waupaca county booth at the state fair.

Plan Membership Drive

Plans were made for a membership drive at the weekly meeting of the Lions Tuesday evening at the club on Long lake. The Lions also discussed the project of the construction of a screen dam at the outlet of Long lake. Work is soon to be started on the dam, which is being built jointly by the Lions club and the Clintonville Fish and Game Protective association.

Rotarians from this city with their wives went to Shawano lake Monday evening, where a joint meeting was held at Shylagoco golf club with Rotarians from Shawano, New London and Marion. Golf was played during the afternoon and the dinner was followed by an evening of dancing. Clintonville Rotarians dispensed with their regular meeting this week.

Laurel Behnke and Miss Beverly Winchester of Clintonville, James Fitzhender and Miss Audrey Baldwin of Menasha spent the weekend at Milwaukee, where they attended the Wisconsin state fair.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kelly of Washington, D. C. are guests for several days at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gause and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Welch in this city. Mrs. Kelly, who was the former Miss Hazel Perry, is a niece of the Gause's.

Mr. and Mrs. Welch had as their guests on Wednesday: Mrs. A. C. Walach and Miss Enid Walach of Menasha, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Nash and children of Topeka, Kansas.

Family Enroute to Weyauwega Involved In Automobile Crash

Weyauwega—Word was received here today by Harry Farley that his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Frihart and three sons of Cambridge Springs, Pa., who were on their way here to visit him, figured in a head-on collision early this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Frihart and oldest son are in a critical condition in a Janesville hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Farley, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Farley and Mrs. Gilbert Whitney left immediately by auto for Janesville.

Chief Chet Mc Carthy, assistant chief William Lawrence first mechanic Harvey Roch and private first class John Hannaman are attending a short course of fireman-ship at the state fire school now in session at Madison.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Redman at their home in Waupaca Monday. Mrs. Redman was the former Miss Hulda Rohde of Weyauwega.

Miss Wilma Ballard is spending her vacation with Mr. and Mrs. L. Kent Assford and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Pagel in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. L. J. Steiger entertained her bridge club at a six o'clock dinner on Monday. The occasion being a birthday surprise party in honor of Mrs. J. W. Sherburne. Honors at cards were awarded to Mrs. Myron Mather and Mrs. Seely Tripp. Mrs. Alice Larkee and Mrs. Alden Hanes of Waupaca attended.

Start Concrete Work On College Project

Work started yesterday on the pouring of concrete for drains and retaining walls on the site of the Lawrence college recreational center near the Fox river bank.

The Koepke Construction company expects to start actual construction of the tennis courts next week. Five new courts will be built.

GUY STILLMAN TAKES A BRIDE
Guy Stillman, 19, youngest son of Mrs. Fowler McCormick and her first husband, James A. Stillman, New York financier, is shown with his bride, the former Nancy Holbrook, 17, as they paused in front of St. James Episcopal church in Dundee, Ill., just after the wedding.

Complete Arrangements For Waupaca County Fair

Weyauwega—Everything is in readiness to greet the thousands who will attend Waupaca County's Greatest Fair to be held at Weyauwega Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, August 25-28-29-30. Every day is packed with the greatest array of entertainment ever brought to Weyauwega in the 65-year history of the fair, officials believe.

Probably the outstanding exhibit of the fair moved in only the day before the fair opened. This is the RFD Electrical Show sponsored by the Wisconsin Michigan Power company which will again occupy the entire building formerly used by the township exhibits. While the House of Wonders displayed a year ago proved to be among the best and most popular on the grounds, the RFD Electrical Show far surpasses the 1937 version in size, originality, color, and versatility. It will represent more than $2,000, and it can be seen only at the Waupaca county fair.

The display itself is built to house the complete farm of Mr. Brown, including the barn, dairy, chicken coop, tool shed, and pump house. It consists of a large trailer decorated in typical circus fashion. The four-wheel trailer is 26 feet long and the exhibit is entirely automatic. All motion displays operate electrically with conversation between the various pieces of equipment depicting the stages in the modernization of Mr. Brown's farm. The talking units and moving parts are controlled entirely by electric circuits which present the exhibits to the audience by means of dialogue. One show will be given each hour between 1 and 10 o'clock p. m.

Friday, Aug. 26, will be Children's Day with special features arranged. Then there is the enlarged Conservation exhibit, the displays of 4-H clubs and Future Farmers, the amateur contest Friday, the horse pulling competition Saturday, the baseball games Saturday and Sunday between Wolf Valley league teams, the appearance of widely known speakers in public life, the midway with all its splendor and noise and fun, music by five high school bands, including the St. Mary's band of Menasha on Saturday, the unique and unusual health exhibit, and all the other displays and features that go to make up Waupaca County's Greatest Fair.

County Teachers' Institute Opens

First - Year Instructors Hear Discussions on Procedures

Beginning teachers in Outagamie county state graded and rural schools gathered at the courthouse this morning, opening the annual 2-day institute for county teachers. The program for all county teachers will open at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

This morning's meeting was devoted to discussions of procedures, study methods and reports. The discussions were led by Henry J. Van Straten, county superintendent of schools, and Miss Nellie McDermott and Harry Steffen, supervising teachers.

The three also will give talks at the general session tomorrow. Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, will speak on health in the schools. K. F. Powers, Chicago, will speak on "Writing," and A. D. Phillips, Madison, will talk on "Arithmetic and Supplementary Materials."

John McCormick, Freedom High school faculty member, will talk on the Philippine Islands.

'Observers' to Patrol Nash-Kelvinator Plant

Racine—(7)—Groups of "observers" will patrol the local Nash-Kelvinator plant to prevent any attempt to remove machinery to the company plant at Kenosha. George Truckey, president of United Auto Workers (CIO) local No. 58, announced last night.

Nash-Kelvinator had announced last week it was closing its Racine plant for an indefinite period. Much of the machinery needed in building one model of automobile (LaFayette) is in the local plant and would have to be moved to Kenosha before production could begin on the 1939 model.

Truckey said between 150 and 200 "observers" would be stationed at the plant 24 hours a day.

KILLED BY CAR

Mukwonago—(7)—James Martin, 78, was killed yesterday when struck by an automobile as he crossed Highway 29 in front of his home.

Fiery Itching Skin Gets Quick Relief

Simple Home Treatment Prove It At Small Cost

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to stop the itching and torture of Eczema, Itching Toes, or Foot Rash and other externally caused skin eruptions and that is to apply Moore's Emerald Oil night and morning and people who suffer from embarrassing or unsightly skin troubles would be wise to try it. Ask any first-class druggist for an original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil and refuse to accept anything else. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that a small bottle lasts a long time and furthermore, if this clean, powerful, penetrating oil that helps promote healing fails to give you full and complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded. Greaseless and stainless.

Movieland It's People and Products

BY ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood—Like to pick the new stars as they start to climb. This week's preview grind will give you a field day.

New talent like this makes you wonder what the factories are yelling about.

Scarcity of leading men? There's a good bet named Bruce Lester in "Boy Meets Girl" There's another in "Garden of the Moon" John Payne's the name. It's not a new one, but it hasn't clicked before.

Do they want a sure thing in the comedy sweepstakes? Let 'em look twice at Marie Wilson.

And a potential child wonder? Let 'em listen to the mammas and grandmas clucking over Donnie Dunagan of "Mother Carey's Chickens."

"Boy Meets Girl" takes Hollywood for a dizzy ride on a mile-a-minute track of dialogue. It's fast, furious, funny, and it tops the stage version. You know the story—or where have you been? Cagney and Pat O'Brien are the looney film writers. Marie Wilson's the waitress who spawns the prodigious infant Happy. Bruce Lester's the boy friend after the fact, nicely glossed over for the censors. Ralph Bellamy's the producer, and Frank McHugh the agent. Dick Foran's the cowboy. Lloyd Bacon mixed the ingredients with accent on speed and the laughs spill over the sides of the dish. In Hollywood, anyway.

There's more fast talk in "Garden of the Moon." Pat O'Brien providing most of it as manager of a local night club easily identified as the Coconut Grove. It's feud stuff—Pat versus John Payne.

Payne, James Stewart-ish in appearance, got this role originally intended for Dick Powell. After previous false starts, he acts and sings this time to do his wife (Anne Shirley) proud. Margaret Lindsay, too often a stick of a lass, shows new life.

Director Busby Berkeley took these principals, a host of supporting players, some good tunes and smart showmanship values and whipped up what looks like a sure-fire click. Important in the story is Jimmie Fidler, movie commentator, playing himself.

If you like simple, appealing, human stuff you'll go for "Mother Carey's Chickens." Not much of a plot. It relies on romantic, amusing, heart-warming incident for its major strength. Family stuff, and good.

Anne Shirley (doing John Payne proud) and Ruby Keeler, playing straight with no dancing, share the romantic burden with Frank Albertson and James Ellison. Fay Bainter is the widowed mother, excellent but granted little opportunity for brilliance. The new child Dunagan is sensational—cluck, cluck!—in that tangled wallpaper scene, and the whole piece, under Rowland V. Lee's direction, carries a cumulative warmth.

MARGARET LINDSAY—has ample proof in the piscatorial prize she has just netted—to provide the basis for fish stories to set the 'tall story club' by the ears for many a long day. Known as one of the most enthusiastic of Hollywood's outdoor women—Miss Lindsay will be next seen in "Garden of the Moon."

"Give Me a Sailor" tones down Martha Raye and presents her transformation from an ugly duckling into a loze-contest winner with Glatfelter and It. Hope. Hope, very smooth, and Jack Whiting are the young men involved, and Betty Grable is the selfish sister.

I laughed myself into fits at some of Martha's early business—that beauty mask sequence in particular—despite a premonition about the turn things would take when she quit clowning and began to it. My worst fears were realized. Martha had better give up Glamour—especially in the vicinity of the Gorgeous Grable.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Neenah Group at Forest Junction C. E. Convention

Evangelical Young People Leave Today for Conclave

Neenah — Young people from the First Evangelical church left today for Forest Junction for the opening session at 1:30 this afternoon of the Christian Endeavor and Sunday school convention which continues through Sunday, Aug. 28. Members of the congregation plan to attend services Sunday at the Forest Junction convention to hear the Rev. William E. Grote, pastor of First Evangelical church, Elgin, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Schmidt plan to take Willard Gallau, Gladys Clapper and Edith Schultz to Forest Junction and other young people who will go are Marian Gallau and Theresa Meyer, all members of the Evangelical League of Christian Endeavor. Miss Gallau will be delegate from the senior league.

Following registration and presentation of courses in the school of religion and methods, classes will begin and continue until 4 o'clock which is the hour for recreation. The Rev. Mr. Grote will conduct the evening worship service.

Missionary Session
A Women's Missionary society group meeting with Mrs. E. W. Marks, Clintonville in charge will be held at 10 o'clock Friday morning with the Rev. S. Hirono, Japan, as guest speaker. It is probable that members of the local Missionary group will attend the session.

The Rev. S. Hirono also will address the young people's sessions. Devotional periods will be in charge of the Rev. Milton Clegg, Plymouth, and the Rev. Arnold Weaver, Egg Harbor. The Forest Junction young people's will present a play, "The Silver Trumpet" at the 7:45 evening worship service Saturday.

The Rev. A. E. Happe, Batavia, will be in charge of the Children's worship service Sunday morning and the Rev. F. W. Huebner, Sheboygan, of the children's worship service in the afternoon.

Highway Officers Check Truck Loads

County Police Make Several Arrests on Overload Charges

Neenah — Captain Irving Stulp of the Winnebago county highway police said today that officers are checking the loads on trucks with increasing frequency. He said that the tonnage carried by some of the carriers in comparison with their legal limits.

Stulp said a dozen or more arrests have been made during the summer of truck drivers who carried overloads. County officers enforce the law by stopping trucks on the highways and directing them to registered scales where their loads are weighed.

He pointed out that there are 13 classes of weights under the state law up to gross weight of 38,000 pounds. Every truck is permitted to carry up to the tonnage allowed for its own license certification.

Two truck owners, were fined by Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsinger Wednesday when they pleaded guilty of operating their trucks with loads in excess of that for which they were registered.

Funeral Rites Held for Former Menasha Woman
Menasha — Funeral services for Mrs. William Stopper, 59, the former Mary Ann Resch of Menasha, who died Tuesday at her home in Fond du Lac, were held at 8:30 this morning in the Gerend Funeral home in Fond du Lac and at 9 o'clock in St. Peter's church in that city. Interment was in Oshkosh.

Survivors are the husband, one daughter, Marjorie, at home, two brothers, Albert, St. Paul, Minn., James, Montgomery, Minn., and one sister, Mrs. James A. Gaffney, Fond du Lac.

Welsh Song Festival Scheduled for Aug. 28
Neenah — The Welsh annual song festival will be held Sunday, Aug. 28, at the Peniel Presbyterian church in the Welsh settlement south of Oshkosh as a tradition of more than 21 years is continued.

The three sessions, one at 10:30 Sunday morning, one at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and one at 7 o'clock in the evening will be conducted this year by John Williams of Chicago who will be making his fourth appearance in the country. He will sing two or three solos on the program which is to include group singing, selections by quartets and solo numbers. It is expected that more than 600 persons will attend the song fest.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number also may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers missed by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

Labor Council Will Hold First Meeting In New Hall Friday

Menasha — The Neenah-Menasha Trades and Labor council will hold its first meeting in its new hall Friday evening. The new hall is the old band room of the former Menasha High school which has been leased to the council.

At the last meeting of the council it was voted to liquidate and cease operation of the Twin Cities Union club and bar. The club was a separate organization but it was directly connected with the council and all unions affiliated with the council automatically became members of the club. The club was formed in 1934 to help defray expenses and maintain the council hall.

Coopers local 22 will hold a farewell party at the old hall Saturday night.

Neenah-Menasha Day Will be Held At Fair on Sept. 1

County Exposition to Open Aug. 30. Continue Through Sept. 2

Neenah — Neenah-Menasha day at the 1938 Winnebago county fair and exposition has been designated for Thursday, Sept. 1, it was announced today by Taylor G. Brown, fair secretary.

Corresponding to the day-by-day program of recent years, the fair will have designated days as follows: Children's day, Tuesday, Aug. 20; Oshkosh day, Wednesday, Aug. 31; Thrill day, Friday, Sept. 2.

Fairground gates will be swung open Tuesday, ushering in a day and night schedule of exhibits and attractions lasting through Friday. County day, which is held in conjunction with Neenah — Menasha day, will feature special attractions of interest to Twin City residents and people of the adjacent rural territory. One of the features will be a concert by St. Mary High school band of Menasha.

Children of the fair association, and youngsters accompanied by adults will be admitted free. The annual horse pulling contest is arranged as a Tuesday morning feature.

Parade of Winners
For the final day program, the morning schedule will include the parade of livestock premium winners. A stunt show will be held in the afternoon.

Each day a full routine of platform acts will be presented and repeated each evening with additions. The fireworks display is promised to be more complete than any ever shown at the county fair.

Spaces in the exhibit building and about the grounds have been taken. Assignments are being made as rapidly as possible. The 4-H section is so completely filled that several organizations have had to be refused. Cattle, horse, sheep, swine and chicken barns will be filled to capacity. All other departments likewise are expected to have an overflow list of entries.

Theda Clark Alumnae To Fete Graduates at Banquet September 1

Neenah — The Theda Clark Nurses Alumnae association will entertain the graduating nurses at a banquet at 6:30 Tuesday evening, Sept. 6, in the Menasha Hotel.

Miss Jane Brunke, Miss Alice Kersten, Miss Carolyn Mauer and Miss Helen Hartswurm are in charge of entertainment and decorations. Miss Bernice Kriess, Miss Verneide Voss and Mrs. Winona Schmiedt, gifts, and Miss Ruth Glass and Miss Bernice Landig, banquet menu. Transportation is in charge of Mrs. Grace Scheley, Miss Voss, Miss Mauer, Miss Brunke and Miss Glass. Honorary guests at the banquet will be Miss Jean D. Cruickshank, superintendent, Mrs. C. B. Clark and Mrs. Carleton Smith.

A dancing party for the graduating nurses is planned for Wednesday evening at Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Clark, E. Wisconsin avenue, entertain for them. Graduation day will be Sept. 9.

Construction on the gymnasium is nearly finished. The walls have been erected and a basement, 50 feet by 25 and 8 feet deep, has been built on the west end of the structure. The basement will be used for storage purposes.

The arched roof has been completed. One of the features of the new gymnasium are the five all-steel welded arches supporting the roof. They are the first all-steel welded arches to be installed in a building in Wisconsin. Schreiber said. The trusses which consist of 14-inch I-beams start from the floor, mount the side walls, arch over to the other side of the building and down the walls to the floor.

Six large double windows line the south side of the building, while the other three sides are blank. There are no openings at all in the north and west sides of the structure. There are four doors, two on the S. Commercial street side, one of which leads into the street and the other into the Brigade building, while the other two lead into Columbian avenue.

Maple Block Floor
The concrete floor in the gymnasium remains to be laid. Two layers of felt will be laid on the concrete to furnish a cushion for the wood floor which will consist of 8-inch square maple blocks. The ceiling will be h-u-wood.

The addition to the second floor of the Brigade building will complete the second floor level. The addition, which will rise slightly above the roof of the gymnasium, will be 37 by 40 feet and contain seven rooms. The rooms will be used for group meetings.

Says State Suffers From Low Tariffs
Sturgeon Bay, Wis. — Wisconsin industry, labor and farmers have suffered from low tariffs put in by the Democratic administration, James G. Peterson, Medford, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, charged in an address last night.

"Wisconsin farmers, whose dairy products must now compete with those from foreign countries, are not the only ones who have suffered from low tariffs," he said. "Wisconsin industry and labor also have suffered. They have been forced to compete with cheap foreign products, made by cheap foreign labor, which have deluged this country as a result of the lowering of the tariff wall."

"Probably the shoe industry has suffered more from this competition than any other Wisconsin industry. Cheap shoes made in Europe have swept into this state like a swarm of locusts, devouring the dividends which would have gone to the stockholders of the shoe manufacturing companies and the wages which would have gone to their employees."

DIVORCES TUGWELL
Reno, Nev. — (7) — Mrs. Florence Arnold Tugwell was granted a divorce from Rexford Guy Tugwell, former New Deal advisor, in Yerington, Nev., yesterday on charges of cruelty, which were described as mental only.

The decree was granted at a closed door hearing by Judge Clark J. Guild and all papers were sealed.

There are four doors, two on the S. Commercial street side, one of which leads into the street and the other into the Brigade building, while the other two lead into Columbian avenue.

Maple Block Floor
The concrete floor in the gymnasium remains to be laid. Two layers of felt will be laid on the concrete to furnish a cushion for the wood floor which will consist of 8-inch square maple blocks. The ceiling will be h-u-wood.

The addition to the second floor of the Brigade building will complete the second floor level. The addition, which will rise slightly above the roof of the gymnasium, will be 37 by 40 feet and contain seven rooms. The rooms will be used for group meetings.

Says State Suffers From Low Tariffs
Sturgeon Bay, Wis. — Wisconsin industry, labor and farmers have suffered from low tariffs put in by the Democratic administration, James G. Peterson, Medford, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, charged in an address last night.

"Wisconsin farmers, whose dairy products must now compete with those from foreign countries, are not the only ones who have suffered from low tariffs," he said. "Wisconsin industry and labor also have suffered. They have been forced to compete with cheap foreign products, made by cheap foreign labor, which have deluged this country as a result of the lowering of the tariff wall."

"Probably the shoe industry has suffered more from this competition than any other Wisconsin industry. Cheap shoes made in Europe have swept into this state like a swarm of locusts, devouring the dividends which would have gone to the stockholders of the shoe manufacturing companies and the wages which would have gone to their employees."

DIVORCES TUGWELL
Reno, Nev. — (7) — Mrs. Florence Arnold Tugwell was granted a divorce from Rexford Guy Tugwell, former New Deal advisor, in Yerington, Nev., yesterday on charges of cruelty, which were described as mental only.

The decree was granted at a closed door hearing by Judge Clark J. Guild and all papers were sealed.

Be A Safe Driver
Neenah — The Theda Clark Nurses Alumnae association will entertain the graduating nurses at a banquet at 6:30 Tuesday evening, Sept. 6, in the Menasha Hotel.

Miss Jane Brunke, Miss Alice Kersten, Miss Carolyn Mauer and Miss Helen Hartswurm are in charge of entertainment and decorations. Miss Bernice Kriess, Miss Verneide Voss and Mrs. Winona Schmiedt, gifts, and Miss Ruth Glass and Miss Bernice Landig, banquet menu. Transportation is in charge of Mrs. Grace Scheley, Miss Voss, Miss Mauer, Miss Brunke and Miss Glass. Honorary guests at the banquet will be Miss Jean D. Cruickshank, superintendent, Mrs. C. B. Clark and Mrs. Carleton Smith.

A dancing party for the graduating nurses is planned for Wednesday evening at Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Clark, E. Wisconsin avenue, entertain for them. Graduation day will be Sept. 9.

Construction on the gymnasium is nearly finished. The walls have been erected and a basement, 50 feet by 25 and 8 feet deep, has been built on the west end of the structure. The basement will be used for storage purposes.

The arched roof has been completed. One of the features of the new gymnasium are the five all-steel welded arches supporting the roof. They are the first all-steel welded arches to be installed in a building in Wisconsin. Schreiber said. The trusses which consist of 14-inch I-beams start from the floor, mount the side walls, arch over to the other side of the building and down the walls to the floor.

Six large double windows line the south side of the building, while the other three sides are blank. There are no openings at all in the north and west sides of the structure. There are four doors, two on the S. Commercial street side, one of which leads into the street and the other into the Brigade building, while the other two lead into Columbian avenue.

Charge 2 Women With Slaying of Illinois Farmer

Warrants are Signed by Brother of Mur- dered Man

Field, Ill. — (U) — Two young women from the mountains of eastern Tennessee were charged with murder today in the killing of Felix Shannon, Mount Erie farmer, whose body was found Monday in the bedroom of his home, Sheriff Earnest Burkett announced.

The warrants were signed by Perry Shannon, brother of the dead man, Burkett reported.

The sheriff said all persons who saw the two women with Shannon Sunday, or observed them in their flight Monday, after the slaying, would view the prisoners today. These witnesses include Carlyle, 8-year-old son of Shannon and his estranged wife.

Deny Killing

The prisoners, Jean Brooks, 23, of Elizabethtown, Tenn., and Beulah Honeycutt, 25, of Johnson City, Tenn., were arrested Tuesday at Hopkinsville, Ky., and brought to the Wayne county jail.

Both denied any connection with the killing or that they ever had been in Illinois. The sheriff said, Burkett declared, Shannon picked up two women at Princeton, Ind. Sunday, while his son, Carlyle, was with him. Burkett said he followed the trail of the women after the slaying, through the Mount Erie bottom lands, to Albion, Princeton, Ind., and to Henderson, Ky.

Shannon, 56 years old, had been shot twice through the head. His automobile was found in a ditch, a mile and a half from his home. His own pistol, with three discharged cartridges, was found behind the car. Only 13 cents was found in his clothing.

Shannon's widow and five children, who reside at Sonerville, Ind., attended his funeral services yesterday at Mount Erie.

assurances to France, said government circles reached the conclusion something must be done quickly to ease growing tension in central Europe.

MILITARY DISPLAY

Berlin — (U) — Nazi Germany followed up a guarantee of the integrity of Hungarian frontiers today with its greatest post-war military display before Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary.

In an exchange of toasts at a sumptuous state dinner last night, Chancellor Adolf Hitler as a "friend and neighbor" promised the Hungarian ruler that "we as neighbors have found our definite, historic boundaries through historic events (German annexation of Austria on March 15, 1938).

Admiral Horthy replied:

"The wish for continuation of peaceful reconstruction which animates us and our friends is safe insurance that our people can pursue successfully the high aim of peace based on mutual good will and justice through further close collaboration, thereby serving best their own interests and those of the rest of the world."

Hitler showed Horthy in the two-hour parade that the old Prussian spirit which the Hungarian admiral learned to know during the World war still lived.

He also showed the guest that Germany has one of the most modern armies in the world from the viewpoint of technical equipment.

With traditional Prussian precision the infantry, cavalry, air force and motorized units paraded by, goose-stepping snappily and forming lines straight as dyes.

Newspaper Story Among New Volumes at Library

With hot summer days past and the cooler days of September ahead bringing with them a keener enjoyment of reading, a new list of recent fiction and non-fiction has been prepared and is available at the Appleton Public library.

Among the new books is one entitled "Scoopy" by Waugh. It is the story of authors and New York newspaper men whose lives are unfolded for the reader. Others are "The Ants' Nest" by Daly, "Storevik" by Tejeistam, "Long, Long Summer" by Howard, "Luckpenny" by Marshall, "The Wall" by Rinehart.

"A Day of Battle" by Sheenan, "Hand On Her Shoulder" by Widemer, "Rich Girl, Poor Girl" by Baldwin, "Death On The Nile" by Christie, "Lake Water Flowing" by Mackay, "House In The Hills" by Meynell, "The Dark River" by Northolt, "My Son, My Son" by Sprung, and "Summer Hostess" by Stebbins.

Recent non-fiction includes: "Beyond High School" by Bennett, "Away to the Canadian Rockies" by Brinley, "Assignment Down East" by Buxton, "A Southern Discovery" by Daniels, "China Fights For Her Life" by Ekins, "Third Class Ticket to Heaven" by Follett, "Horse and Buggy Doctor" by Heitzler, "The Coming Victory of Denial."

Realty Transfers

The following real estate transfers were filed today at the office of A. L. Collar, Outagamie county register of deeds:

Peter Jackels to Frank Ver Bunt, a parcel of land in the town of Buchanan.

Charles A. Gelbke to Paul R. Gelbke, a parcel of land in the Fourth ward, Appleton.

Sarah Birmingham to Orlo M. Slater, an acre of land in the town of Horton.

B. J. Zuehlke, guardian, to John P. Dietrich, a parcel of land in the First ward, Appleton.

Continue Inquiry In Activities of Investment Heads

Madison — (U) — The banking commission's inquiry into the activities of former officers and employees of the defunct General Securities company, Milwaukee, was continued today until Sept. 8 after the state completed presentation of its case. Permits to sell securities are at stake in the hearing.

The continuance was granted upon request of Winfred Zabel, Milwaukee attorney, counsel for several of the men, who asked for additional time to study a list of transactions offered in evidence by Leo Vaudreuil, deputy attorney general.

Involved in the investigation are George and Lester J. Carroll, partners in the Carroll-Miller company, Milwaukee, Larry E. and Frank R. Seidl, now operating the Seidl Securities house, Milwaukee, Elmer F. Oldenburg and Harvey R. Van Roo.

Attorneys for the men asserted the investigation of the men's records with the General Securities firm was a "post mortem" and unfair to them. Vaudreuil contended that the state has since issued licenses to the men, and has a right to investigate their earlier activities.

Wiley Makes Plea for Sound Public Opinion

Racine — (U) — Creation and maintenance of a sound public opinion is one of the day's greatest needs, Alexander Wiley said today.

Wiley, candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator and a past governor of the Wisconsin-upper Michigan Kiwanis district, addressed the Racine Kiwanians in a non-political talk.

"Another great need," he said, "is to tear down the barriers that have been built by false thinkers between labor and capital, and for labor and capital each to get a vision of their interdependence and their mutual responsibilities."

The third need, he added, is a "revigorated patriotism, an understanding of the problems that are confronting America and an appreciation of each man's duty to take part in the solution of those problems."

Autoist Pleads Guilty Of Jumping Arterial

Judge Thomas H. Ryan fined Christ Gettsfeld, 51, 1613 N. Alvin street, $1 and costs in municipal court yesterday afternoon when he pleaded guilty of failing to stop for an arterial Gettsfeld was arrested at Oneida and Seymour streets by city police.

All Spent and Nothing to Show For It!

What permanent returns do YOU get from paying rent? Have you thought of making rent-paying give you dollar for dollar value? Have you thought of it in terms of owning your own home? Perhaps you think the kind of home you want is not available in this manner. If so, why not come in and let us show you that no matter what type of home you want, no matter how large or small, you can build it through our monthly payment plan like rent.

For your inspection we are now building a small home on 773 Reed Street, Neenah, payments will run about $24.00 per month. Drive out and see this home, we invite your inspection. Then see us and we will be happy to discuss your requirements and suggest the home you should have. "Your family will be happier in their own home."

Shawano Women Golfers Defeat New London Team

Even Season's Score With 22 to 12 Victory in Return Match

New London — Shawano ladies evened the golfing score with the New London Ladies' club yesterday afternoon when they won a return match at Springvale course, 22 to 12. Mrs. D. M. Vanderveer had low score for New London with a 50 and Miss Louise Juneau shot low of 51 for Shawano.

A record crowd of seventy took part in the activities. Special prizes were awarded for low score in each foursome and New London players winning were Miss Rosemary McDaniel and Mrs. Vanderveer.

Bridge prizes were won by Mrs. George Dornier, Mrs. Edward Zillmer of Escanaba, Mich., and Mrs. Ben Hartquist. Mrs. Zillmer is visiting at the Fred Krause home here.

Special prizes in bridge were awarded to Mrs. E. C. Jost, Mrs. E. W. Wendlandt, Miss Marie Patterson of Shawano and Mrs. Zillmer.

Climaxing the golf season for the women next Wednesday will be the annual ladies' jamoree at Springvale course. A member of the club is expected to bring a guest for the big event. Mrs. William S. Park is general chairman in charge of arrangements.

New London Lawyer Will Move Office to Appleton Next Month

New London—Attorney Walter P. Melchoir, who has conducted a law office in this city for the last 10 years, announced this week the transfer of his practice to an Appleton office effective Sept. 1. He will be situated at 112 W. College avenue and the family will make its home at 304 S. Morrison street. They plan to move household goods sometime before Sept. 1.

The new office will be more convenient for his work as special counsel for the state trades practice department, Melchoir announced. He is a member of the board of governors of the Wisconsin State Bar association and was city attorney for New London to fill out an unexpired term about five years ago.

Melchoir has established limited partnership with Attorney Ormond W. Capener of this city, effective Sept. 1, to take care of the interests he is leaving here.

500 Residence Changes Each Year at New London

New London — About 500 residence changes take place in New London every year and most of those occur during the month of May, according to records kept at the office of the city light and water department. The records show that relatively few families migrate to or away from the city in the course of a year.

The following are a few of the recent transfers:

E. J. Meidam, railway express agent, has sold his home at 710 Maine street and has taken an apartment in the Gallea flats at 211 S. Pearl street. L. H. Brown, assistant manager of Kellner's Variety store and a newcomer to the city, has taken possession of the former Meidam home.

Mr. and Mrs. Seth Putnam moved Tuesday from 22 W. Cook street to 304 W. Spring street. Last Saturday the Gust Floehr family transferred their residence from 23 E. Law street to 1020 Dexter street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mengert last week established their home at 304 E. Quincy street after living at 216 E. Pine street.

Move to Hancock Street

E. G. Jagodich and family have moved from their home at 520 W. Beacon avenue to 115 E. Hancock street. Mr. and Mrs. James Edmister have taken over the Beacon avenue home. They lived formerly at 1123 Wyman street.

A. E. Gottschalk has moved from 327 W. Cook street to 612 Smith street. Robert Campbell has taken his family into the residence at 1112 Wyman street from an apartment at the James Bodoh home, 227 E. Washington street.

Len Surridge made a change from 303 S. Pearl street to 241 Avon street and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Webber are now living at 415 McKinley street instead of 213 Lyons street.

New London Golfer Is Practicing for Dawn-to-Dusk Game

New London — These all-day golf marathons hold no terrors for Gordon Meiklejohn, Jr., of this city, for he's practicing this week to tackle Springvale Golf course in a dawn-to-dusk battle next Monday if everything turns out right. He set a speed record for 18 holes during a tryout at the course on Tuesday and now he's seeking stakes on Monday's outcome to make it worth while.

He covered 18 holes in 50 minutes, shooting a score of 63 against par of 72. He had two caddies to help him, one to watch the ball and spot it and another to carry his bag. He used five clubs and ran between shots to save time. He made his first nine holes in 25 minutes with a mark of 40, four above par.

Springvale course measures about 3,000 yards, nearly two miles, and Meiklejohn, Jr., is doubtful if he can maintain such a pace all day. He plans to start at 4:30 Monday morning if the weather is all right.

Church Classes To Hold Reunion

Confirmation Groups for 1925-35 Decade to Join in Banquet

New London — A reunion banquet for all the confirmation classes of the decade from 1925 to 1935 was planned by the Senior Young Peoples society of the Emanuel Lutheran church at its regular meeting Tuesday evening. The affair was set for Tuesday, Sept. 20. Miss Hildegard Paap was named general chairman of the undertaking. Other committees are food, Miss Elsie Molitz, chairman, Miss Irma Schramm, Arnold Steingraber, Vernon Tank; program, Miss Verna Tank, chairman, Miss Frances Meyer, Wallace Wendt, Hugo Bachman; fellowship, Miss Ruth Tank, Wallace Wendt, Arnold Prah; decorations and arrangements, Miss Gladys Prah, chairman, Ruth Tank, Marlin Prah, Arthur Kussorow.

Chairmen of the various committees will meet again next Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Molitz to push the plans.

Fifteen members of the society met at the church parlors Tuesday evening for the business meeting and afterwards enjoyed an outing and refreshments at the John Tank farm.

Dobberstein Launches Print File for Police

New London—Elmer Dobberstein, best known for his association with the New London Miller High Lites baseball team, began work this week inaugurating a single finger print file for the police department at Stevens Point. He was formerly with the finger print classification department of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Washington, D. C.

Boast Large Fireworks Display at Calumet Fair

Chilton — One of the largest fireworks displays ever brought to this part of the state will headline the evening entertainment program at the Calumet county fair this year, according to contracts closed by officials of the fair and announcement made by T. Henry Weeks, secretary.

According to the preliminary outline given out today by Secretary Weeks, the displays will include every type of feature of modern fireworks. Quadruple repeating shells, set-pieces of dazzling beauty and color, weird aerial effects that shriek and howl as they zig-zag across the sky. These and scores of other entirely new types of pyrotechnics will be mingled in profusion with modern and comedy numbers that will both thrill with their beauty and cause roars of laughter from both young and old.

A special factory expert operator will be brought here to handle the entire event and tons of fireworks and equipment will be required for the complete presentation. Secretary Weeks said today. It will be the very last word in modern evening entertainment and will mark an entirely new step in fireworks displays.

Dead Fish Found in River Near Chilton

Chilton — During the past week the water in the Manitowoc river has been unusually dark in color and many hundreds of dead fish have been found both above and below the dam near the State street bridge. This river rises in Fond du Lac county and flows through the large marsh in the town of Marshfield in that county. During the recent cycle of dry years, the marsh has dried out and burned out to a considerable depth. The copious rains of this spring and summer have caused a luxuriant growth of grass and weeds along the river course. These plants and the saturated peat of the river marshes so polluted the water as to destroy thousands of fish, it was said.

On Saturday, passers-by on the bridge could see bubbles on the water caused by the attempts of the fish to get air. According to a statement by Arthur Chase, conservation warden at Oshkosh, the oxygen had been removed from the water by the pollution from the swamps.

The entire head of the water above the dam in the north branch of the river here was drained out Monday the dam was opened and the river above the dam thus brought back to its usual course.

During the past two years thousands of fish have been planted in the Manitowoc river, many of which died during the past week. The abundance of foam in the past few weeks has caused heavy losses to many farmers whose barns were filled with hay and who, to avoid the labor of stacking, had expected to thresh the grain in the fields. Much of the grain rotted, while some started growing in the shocks.

LEAVE FOR WEST

Royalton — Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ritchie, San Diego, Calif. who have been guests of the A. W. Ritchie family and other Waupaca county relatives, left this week by auto for their home in California.

Offer U. of W. Freshmen Course at Waupaca School

Waupaca — Boys and girls who have graduated from the local high school will have an opportunity this fall to enroll in a fulltime University of Wisconsin freshman course. It is the same time living at home and saving the high costs of residence study at Madison.

For the third year a University of Wisconsin freshman center will be held at Waupaca, with students from nearby communities invited to take courses for which they are eligible. The class is sponsored by the Waupaca Lions club, the Waupaca county board and Waupaca public schools.

Classes are held in Waupaca High school and extension freshmen have access to the splendid new school library, laboratories, the full school social program extracurricular activities and athletics. Lawrence Court of last year's high school basketball team is playing manager of the U. W. freshmen this year, and is already planning for a schedule of games.

Four Days a Week

Classes will be taught in English, Geography, European History, and French. Classes are taught by "cut-out riding" professors direct from the campus at Madison, who each teach classes in half a dozen subjects. Classwork will occupy only four days per week—Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday—so students will have opportunity to do weekend work to help pay their way. Morning classes open at 9 a. m. to accommodate those who have a long way to drive.

For this work full university credit is given, credit which is accepted in every college and university of the midwest. The course is especially desirable for those high school graduates who cannot finance the first year of campus work yet wish to continue on to school. It is also desirable in the case of high school graduates whom their parents believe to be too young to go directly from the small town high school to Madison.

Cost of the course is $5 per credit, or $65 per semester. Some N. Y. A. help is available, also the Waupaca Lions are seeking weekend jobs, board-and-room jobs and other occupations to help the students sustain themselves during the school year. The whole idea is to create a "poor man's college" where worthy young people, especially from rural communities, may take college work without the expense of campus residence.

Those from this community who wish to inquire about the course, which opens Sept. 19 at Waupaca, may write to Superintendent Lester M. Emons, Waupaca, or to John Burnham, chairman of the Waupaca Lions sponsoring committee.

Kaukauna Coach to Build Team Around Six Veterans

Kaukauna — A squad of about 30 prospects is expected to greet Coach Paul E. Little at Kaukauna High school's first football practice a week from tomorrow on the library grounds. Last year slighted more reported, but some dropped out soon to bring the squad down to 30.

Only six of the squad can be classed as regulars last year. Leroy Frank, co-captain elect, at tackle, and Bill Alger, at end, are the only line veterans. A backfield might be formed of four who saw plenty of service last year, Bob Niesen, co-captain, Clayton Watson, Karl Kobussen and Carl Gorden.

Giordana and Kobussen played most of every game last year. Watson saw action in every tilt until he became ineligible. Niesen, who came out late for practice, was in there often when he rounded into condition. The Kaws will miss big Bill Peterson, all-conference back, this year. Peterson, a star dash man who knew how to pass, was the triple-threat man in the Kaw backfield. His two punt returns of more than 50 yards each personally defeated St. Mary's of Menasha, 13 to 0, and his 80-yard dash led to the Kaukauna touchdown against West De Pere. He would have been away a couple of times against Appleton in the Armistice day tilt if his mates had given him a little better blocking.

Holes in Line In the lines big holes are left by the graduation of George Hilgenberg and Lee Lambie, all-conference guard and tackle. Leading candidates for line jobs are Steve Andrejeski, Sherm Powers, a certainty at one of the guard positions, Cliff Femal, John Velte, Leo Wolfe, and Joe Regenfuhs.

The sophomore crop this year may produce a player or two. Under Ves Hanby's tutelage last fall they improved steadily and may make important contributions to the squad. Outstanding freshman this year is Willis Ranquette, star of last year's St. Mary's team, who will make a bid for a backfield position.

Two Bear Creek Girls Back From Motor Trip

Bear Creek—Misses Eleanor and Jeanne Mullarkey of this vicinity and Miss Mildred Olen of Clintonville returned Sunday evening from a motor trip through the eastern states and Canada.

The social given Sunday by the Young Ladies' Sodality on St. Mary's church lawn proved a great success.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kronberg, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hermanns, Oshkosh; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Preuce, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Preuce and family, Dear Creek; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kindler and family, East Chicago, Ill.; William Helmke, Mr. and Mrs. George Miller and family, Mrs. August Helmke and family, Marshfield; Mrs. George Muir and family, Blue Island; Mr. and Mrs. John Helmke, Chilton; Mr. and Mrs. Louie Helmke, Neenah; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kittell, Waukegan; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Apitz and family, Sherwood; Mr. and Mrs. Gust Wurdinger and family, Oshkosh.

Still to be Played Second round matches scheduled this week have McAndrews vs. John Zimmerman, Stanley Kauth vs. B. W. Fargo, Herman Maes vs. Francis McMahon, John Grogan vs. Ben G. Prugh, Robert Grogan vs. Herman A. Baier and James McFadden, Jr. vs. Jack Van Lieshout.

Sixteen golfers, first round losers, began consolation flight play. Norbert Berg defeated Duke Van Lieshout, 3 and 1; Elmer Ehlenfeld defeated Norbert Becker, 4 and 3; A. H. Mongin, Jr., beat Lorenz May, 4 and 2, and Howie Radder beat R. U. Landreman, 5 and 3.

Matches to be finished by Saturday have Joseph T. Sadler vs. Rodman Berg, Slip Gerend vs. Bud Kalupa, Mike Gerbarz, Jr., vs. Carl Hansen, J. V. Krahn vs. Melvin Killian.

Trophies will be awarded in both championship and consolation flights by the Lions club.

Black Creek — Damage was done to windows during the storm early Tuesday morning when a bolt of lightning struck a tree and uprooted it, scattering parts of the tree a long distance.

Five large window panes fell out on the south side at the William Ruwoldt farm home and eight small panes in the barn. At least a dozen panes were broken in the barn on the farm of Mrs. Bertha Brusewitz. The tree which was struck was located on the Henry Schabow farm, several miles north of the village. Only one window pane was broken in the Schabow home. The other farms are in the neighborhood.

the WORLD OF STAMPS

(BY THE AP FEATURE SERVICE)
In 1898, Count Ferdinand von Zeppelin was experimenting with dirigibles. His work, and that of A. S. Dumont, paved the way for the development of the modern airship. Germany has honored the count (or graf) for his invention by issuing, early in July, a set of two attractive airmail stamps commemorating the centenary of his birth, July 8, 1838, at Constance, Baden.

The 25-pennig blue shows the count standing in the gondola of one of his early rigid airships. An outline drawing of the cigar-shaped craft appears below.

The 50-pennig green carries an upward view of the underside of a modern zeppelin, showing the streamlined cabin. This stamp carries an outline sketch of the modern dirigible.

A good portrait of Count von Zeppelin appeared on the 3-mark airmail stamp which Germany issued in 1934. One of his dirigibles may be seen in the background on this stamp.

China To Honor F. D. R.
Around the first of the year a Guatemala stamp pictured President Roosevelt. It was one of four stamps in that miniature sheet hailing the 150th anniversary of the U. S. Constitution. Now it is reported that the President's head will next appear, together with that of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, on a set of four Chinese stamps.

The proposed Chinese issue will be to commemorate the establishment of transpacific telephone service. The denominations will be 5, 25 and 50 cents and $1.

New Album Personalities
Two "new" Presidents for the album, whose busts will appear on the 8- and 9-cent stamps of the presidential series, due August 11 and 18, are Martin Van Buren and William Henry Harrison.

Van Buren (1782-1862) was the eighth President, occupying the White House from 1837 to 1841. Harrison, who died after a month as President in 1841, was the son of Benjamin Harrison, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. He was born in 1773.

The 7-cent Andrew Jackson stamp went on sale at Washington August 4.

Five more stamps in this set will be issued during September, as follows:

President Tyler, 10-cent pink, September 2; Polk, 11-cent blue,

Little Chute Youth Has Operation at Racine

Little Chute—Robert Jansen, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas A. Jansen, submitted to an appendectomy at a Racine hospital, Tuesday. The lad was taken ill while spending a two weeks vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ebben at Racine. Mrs. Jansen left Tuesday for Racine.

A son was born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Daenen of De Pere. Mrs. Daenen formerly was Miss Mary Joosten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Joosten of this village.

Peter J. Vanden Heuvel, Frank Weyenberg, Sr., Herman J. Stark and Frank Weyenberg, Jr., spent Wednesday in Chicago where they attended the Cubs-Giants baseball game.

Mrs. C. J. Bell was a guest of relatives in Milwaukee Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Vandenberg have returned to their home in Kenosha after a several days visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Vandenberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brys, Garfield avenue attended the funeral

September 8: Taylor, 12-cent purple, September 14; Fillmore, 13-cent green, September 22, and Harding, $2 black and green, September 29.

All will have first-day sales in Washington.

ISSUE NEW STAMP
An 11-cent stamp, bearing the likeness of James K. Polk will be placed on sale at Washington, D. C., Sept. 8, and will be available in Appleton soon after that date. The stamp will be printed in blue and is the next denomination in the new regular series to be issued by the federal postal department.

Pegler Steps Up to Bat For the Doctors Again

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—It is coming on toward the deadline, so there is not enough time today to settle here, for good and all, the issue of socialized medicine. However, there are some letters at hand which will do for fuel for argument, one contending that a doctor is overpaid at $200 for doing an appendectomy and saving a solvent patient's life.

"We could not go without water for a month," says this one, and adds that we would starve for lack of food, proceeding then to challenge, "is a one who charged a starve man $200 for a single month's supply of water necessarily worth $200? And would it not be regarded as devoid of humanity?"

Well, a drink of water has been known to sell high in certain frontier places where water was packed in cases on mules, and in such cases if a man lacked a dollar or whatever the price to pay for a drink, the price might as well have been $200 as far as he was concerned.

The same argument goes for the single meal to save a life. A man who died of starvation in his pocket has been carried back into the snow because the price of a flop in some dead-end in South Clark or West Madison street, Chicago, or on the Bowery, New York, was 15 cents, and there is just no reckoning the number of hungry men who have died in the windows of restaurants, even the dirty-dish joints, too weak and famished to drool, and continued to starve because they couldn't buy a cup of coffee and a roll, much less a meal. In such cases what difference does it make whether the price of a flop or a meal is 15 cents or $200?

Just after prohibition began the Salvation Army placed in charge of one of its down-and-out clubs one of those great big, clear-eyed, right-thinking, clean-living, muscular Christians of the Y. M. C. A. type, who hated anyone who took a drink and would strut his muscularity and his particular interpretation of Christianity by heaving out all the sick and snaggled-toothed and busted bums who made the mistake of looking for Christian kindness there. He wanted only God-fearing respectables, and he used to boast of the number of his permanent lodgers who had steady jobs, forgetting that his place was nominally a charitable institution and that these dead-beats were able to pay reasonable rates for private quarters, as independent men should be compelled to.

Same Temperament Takes Advantage of Free Service

The same dead-beat temperament takes advantage of free or nominal fee medical and surgical service intended for the truly poor, and this abuse has become so raw that in Washington all members of both houses of congress and all members of the cabinet, by a cheap and greedy distortion of an act of congress, are now entitled to such service in the Naval hospital practically free. I doubt that even in frontier desert places any man ever perished

Playground Group From Little Chute At Gathering Here

Travel to Appleton by Truck for 'Get Acquainted' Rally at Park

Little Chute — A crowd of Little Chute youngsters took part in the "get-acquainted" gathering at Pierce park in Appleton Tuesday.

The children traveled to Appleton in a truck. The Little Chute team won three baseball games and lost two. Jane Vandenberg won the bean bag contest and Dorothy Vandenberg the jar ring toss contest.

Those who took part in the gathering are as follows: Ruth Jansen, Shirley Zwick, Mary Jane Vandenberg, Alice and Mary Jane Vandenberg, Marion, Dorothy and Tressie Vandenberg, Mary Jane and Bernice Dercks, Joan Van Lankvelt, Virginia Vandenberg, Ione Williamson, Jane Vandenberg, Rose Marie Vander Wynt, Germaine and Evelyn Vandenberg, Nellie Hermanson, Rosemary Plach, Marian Verkulken, Beulah Jansen, Dorothy May Evers, Rose Ann Van Bockle, Ruth Driessen.

ROBERT K. HENRY

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Robert K. Henry, Jefferson banker and former Democratic state treasurer for two terms, is entered in both the Democratic and Republican primary as the Coalition candidate for governor.

He wants to rid the state of the "LaFollette political plague," hopes to be nominated in one or both primaries, and to get a sufficient support from both old parties, which have a numerical vote majority, to unseat Gov. LaFollette.

Born in 1890, he was educated in Jefferson high school, and after two years at the state university he eloped with Claire Stevens, now his wife. He is cashier in the Jefferson county bank of which his father, W. S. Henry, is president.

Democrat, first ran for state treasurer in 1928, was elected in 1932, reelected in 1934. Elected treasurer of Wisconsin Bankers association.

In the 1936 election as candidate for state treasurer he ran 106,000 votes ahead of the Democratic candidate for governor, and led all anti-LaFollette candidates with 375,000 votes.

... Drives low-priced auto, has Irish setter named Patrick Henry, smokes cigarettes in preference to cigars, likes blue suits and sauerbraten. Likes Lincoln biographies, and is family man, called "Bob."

Fremont School Nearly Ready for Opening of Term

Conservation League Releases 135 Pheasants

Fremont — Repainting and varnishing of the interior of the local state graded and junior high school is nearly completed in preparation for opening of school Sept. 6. The staff of the school includes Miss Freda Zuehlke, principal of the school and superintendent of the grades, E. H. Ecker, teacher of the grammar grades and Mrs. Doris Van Ornum, Weyauwega the lower grade teacher.

Beaver Dam rural school will open Monday, Aug. 29, with Miss Caroline Zeichert of Fremont in charge. One hundred and thirty-five pheasants have been released by the Fremont conservation league in

Remodeling Work At Morgan School Nears Completion

Classrooms being remodeled at Morgan grade school under a joint school board-WPA project, will be ready for occupancy Sept. 6, the day school is scheduled to reopen, according to A. James Lytle, Jr., superintendent.

Most of the work is about 95 per cent completed with the exception of the painting, which is about 25 per cent finished. Heating and plumbing work as well as all of the brick work is finished. Workmen still are working on the air conditioning system, the electrical work, floors and in the administration offices.

When it is completed the building will house the orthopedic school in the west section of the main floor, the opportunity school, which will take the space formerly occupied by the principal's office and several high school classrooms, and the administration offices on the south half of the second floor. Former Lincoln school grades will be housed on the north half of the second floor.

Engineer Completes Plans for Proposed Boat Club and Slips

The city engineer yesterday completed plans for the construction of the proposed boat slips and clubrooms to be built on the site of the Appleton Yacht club near Lutz park if the council approves the PWA application and if the PWA furnishes 45 per cent of the money to be spent.

The project would cost an estimated $20,000 of which about $11,000 would be paid by the city if the PWA approves the application for a grant. However, under a proposed plan to lease the property to the yacht club, the principal and interest would be returned to the city in about 15 years.

The engineer's plans and the recommendation of the building and grounds committee to construct the building will be submitted to the common council at 7:30 Wednesday evening, Sept. 7.

Kennel Club Will Meet At Fond du Lac Sept. 15

Members of the Northeastern Wisconsin Kennel club will map plans for a licensed dog show at a meeting Sept. 15 at Fond du Lac.

Forest Junction Agent Returns From Hilbert

Forest Junction — After an absence of two months, R. H. Bronoel, railroad station agent here, returned Tuesday from Hilbert where he had been filling a temporary vacancy since the last week in June.

Don M. Davis, who had charge of the station here during the absence of Bronoel, left Tuesday evening for a visit at his home in Rockland, Mich., before taking a position in the Milwaukee Road office at Oconto. The station at Forest Junction is maintained by the C. & N. W. and C. M. St. P. & P. railroads, which have their crossing here.

APRON PATTERN 1635

Teach Children How to Play Cooperatively

BY ANGELO PATRI

It takes a little child a long time—the number of years varying with the conditions—to learn that he has to give up something he has won in order to get something he wants. We ought to be very patient with such children when we look at the grayheads about us who still think they can get their cake and have it.

Three-year-old children rarely play smoothly together. That ought not to be expected of them, for they have no understanding of this notion of giving up in order to get something closer to their hearts. Jackie gets on the kiddie car and at once Hugh drops the wagon he has been monopolizing and lays hold of the kiddie car. Jackie struggles, but is overcome by superior weight, and after a few tears and threats takes the wagon.

As soon as Hugh sees Jackie enjoying the wagon he is moved to possess it again. Jackie resists with might and main. Indignation lends him the needed strength this time and he pushes Hugh over and goes off in triumph with the wagon. Hugh, angry as defeated desire can be, sits stubbornly on the ground and howls. His mother comes to ask what is the matter. "Jackie knocked me down and he won't let me play with the wagon. It's my turn, and he won't let me play."

Of course this is the first mention of taking turns he has made, but his mother does not know that and, anxious to keep the peace, she says, "Come now, Jackie. Let Hugh have his turn, like a good boy. Come now, play nicely together. Let Hugh have the wagon now."

Jackie is bursting with wrath at the injustice of this grown woman who takes the wagon from him and gives it to her boy. He feels that she has come to the aid of her boy and taken an unjust and mean advantage of him. He stoutly says, "No, I won't give him the wagon. He took my kiddie car."

But mother is firm. They must play nicely and take turns. She orders the wagon given to Hugh and the car to Jackie. Jackie wants fair play, not the car now, so he goes home to tell his mother of the meanness of the world.

Those things happen daily where little children play. They are the direct expression of their limited development. Mothers and teachers have to work with the children at this level and not try to make them play cooperatively, in one mind and mood. Suggest taking turns; say it too bad Hugh feels so bad, and withdraw to the background. Do not interfere beyond that unless weapons are drawn. That is the signal for the whole company to go home and calm themselves. No weapons are allowed ever. Hands are quite enough.

As the children grow older the choice between this and "That becomes harder. Stand by principle and give up pleasure; be loyal to friends and give up privileges and enjoy; save money for a necessity and give up a cherished desire. But that choice has to be made daily throughout his life. Don't pity him because of it, but teach him to play the game fairly, to himself as well as to the rest of the world. Be patient; stay in the background; lend

Expert Can Correct Error Of Partner

BY ELY CULBERTSON

One of the marks of an expert is to be able to correct his partner's errors. In so far as the bidding is concerned, this is virtually impossible. No one but a mind reader can be sure that partner's bidding is not justified by his holding. The play of the cards, however, is another matter. When one defender, through inexperience or lack of imagination, adopts a futile plan, it often is possible for his partner to save the ship.

The bidding:
North 1 heart 1 spade 3 no trump
East 1 spade 3 no trump
South 1 spade 3 no trump
West 1 spade 3 no trump

North's opening bid was pretty light, but not greatly to be censured, since he was not vulnerable. He could not, however, stand South's penalty double of one spade and properly ran out to his other five card suit. South, probably disgusted at being robbed of his prey (he had expected a juicy set), took the bit in his teeth and jumped to three no trump. This undoubtedly was a slight stretch. Two no trump would have been strong enough and would have given North a little leeway.

West, naturally impressed by the penalty double of his partner's spade bid, chose to open his own club suit. The five spade was taken by East with the king, and the nine was returned, declarer covering with the ten. West won with the jack and banged down the ace in the hope of dropping the queen (there was no point in waiting for another club lead from East, because if East had another club to lead the queen would fall on the ace). A low diamond was discarded from dummy on West's third club lead, but apparently West took on significance from that fact. A diamond lead at this point would have put an early end to the proceedings, since it immediately would have established East's diamond king. This, with the spade ace, would total five tricks. But for unknown reasons West chose to make a heart shift, this despite the fact that dummy still had its five hearts but had been reduced to four diamonds. (Surely declarer would not have discarded a diamond from dummy if he himself had had the king.) Dummy won the heart lead in his own hand, cashed his other high honor and the club queen, then overtook the heart ten with dummy's ace. The fourth and fifth hearts then were cashed. East had let go one low spade on his partner's third club lead and another on declarer's club queen. On the fourth heart he reduced to the K-J of diamonds blank, and on the fifth let go the spade ten.

Now, when the singleton spade was led from dummy, East hopped up with the king and made the logical return of the diamond king. He realized that South must have the king and jack of spades for his double of one spade. The only chance, then, was that West had the ten of diamonds to guard dummy's nine spot. Since that condition existed, declarer had to be satisfied with the ace and queen of diamonds. He could not win a single spade trick.

Thus, by merely keeping the bidding in mind, East recovered his partner's error.

Nellie Bly's World Trip

IV—CROSSING THE PACIFIC

At Hong Kong Nellie Bly had to spend five days waiting for her next steamer. It was the Christmas season, but the Chinese were not excited about it. Only the British and other foreign white residents were much interested in the holiday. They welcomed the world traveler, and invited her to many parties. She didn't accept because she felt that neither of her two dresses was suitable for such events.

A sketch of Nellie Bly made during her trip around the world.

Making an excursion to Canton, she spent Christmas Day there, and had her lunch in a building known as the Temple of the Dead. Three days later she boarded the "Oceanic" at Hong Kong, and steamed toward Japan.

At Yokohama and Tokyo, Nellie found that the news of her trip had come before her. She was met at the Yokohama dock, and was taken around to see the sights while the ship was in port.

She enjoyed her days in Japan, but was anxious to start the Pacific crossing. The captain told her he had crossed the great ocean the last time in 13 days, and hoped to do at least as well this time, and better if possible.

On Jan 7 the "Oceanic" left Yokohama. The sailors and even the stokers said they would work hard for a fast journey. On the boilers and other parts of the vessel signs were posted up, each with the same words: "WE'LL WIN OR DIE FOR NELLIE BLY."

For three days all went well, and the vessel made 75 miles more than on the previous crossing. Then came heavy winds and high waves. The name "Pacific" means "Peaceful" but there was not much peace the rest of the voyage.

There was one good thing about the voyage for Nellie Bly—despite the rough weather, she didn't get seasick. The trip from Yokohama to San Francisco was made in 14 days and two hours. That is counting the extra day people have when they cross the Pacific from east to west, thanks to the International Date Line.

News of Nellie Bly's return was printed in New York in this way: "At daylight yesterday morning, she stepped from the deck of the steamship 'Oceanic' at San Francisco, after having traveled more than 21,000 miles in 66 days. She still has a journey of 3,000 miles ahead of her. The arrival was awaited by a large gathering of people. When Miss Bly put her foot on American soil, a hundred hands were stretched out to her in friendly greeting."

In a present day welcome home gathering, "a hundred hands" wouldn't be very many. Ask Mr. Hughes or Mr. Corrigan! Nellie Bly, however, was not yet back in New York.

COULD I BE A PAYING GUEST?

Dear Mrs. Post: An English friend with whom I have corresponded very little and whom I have not seen for more than ten years, has just heard that my husband and I are going abroad soon. She has invited us to spend a week with her. This friend, I know, lets out rooms to "paying guests" and I imagine she has stipulated a week's visit because she will need the room for revenue. We had planned to spend at least three or four weeks in that part of England and wondered whether I could ask her to take us for the rest of the time as paying guests without placing her in a position of feeling obliged to invite us for the whole time. What do you suggest that I do?

Answer: Under the circumstances I think I would accept her invitation for the week, and then when you arrive, if you find that one of her rooms is not taken and it is suitable for you, you can then tell her that you would like to rent this room for three weeks, or until it is rented permanently. You must make it clear that you want to be a paying guest, and ask her the price of the room and lodging. If she insists on your staying as a non-paying friend, you should insist on either paying like all the other guests, or on moving to a hotel. It is impossible to answer definitely whether, or not you might stay on a short time longer if she invites you before you yourself tell her that you are going to stay in the neighborhood. But even so, you could on no account let her lengthen on her one week invitation into four, except as a regular pay-by-the-week boarder.

Will He Be Her Guest?

Dear Mrs. Post: A young relative of ours has agreed to drive an elderly lady in her car from Chicago to California. As she is a stranger to him and he is acting as chauffeur in order to work his way to the coast, he is charging so much a day for his salary driver but the now very upset because he forgot to ask her whether he is supposed to pay garage expenses and find his own food and accommodation or whether he is expected to stay where she does as her guest and eat with her. If he has to pay both these expenses, he thinks it will cost more than the salary she is going to give him.

Answer: The garage bills are of course her obligation. The ones

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Despite what any hairdresser says to the contrary, you should not get a permanent wave until your hair has been properly conditioned after your summer's carelessness. Assuming that most of us are more careless in hair grooming during summer months!

If you can manage somehow, let most of your old wave grow out before getting a new one. Unless your operator is very skilled, hair ends, curled twice will split and even fade. To get a truly beautiful wave all the old curl should be cut off.

You cannot blame your operator if you insist upon a wave when your hair is not in a good condition. For at least one month before getting a new wave you should brush your hair daily, massage your scalp with finger tips and good tonic and give it weekly hot oil treatments.

Even though you might be an inveterate bargain hunter it is being penny wise and pound foolish to get a bargain, permanent wave. Good permanent waves have pretty stable standard prices. The prices fluctuate only according to the salon rating. A salon which boasts very capable operators naturally charges more for a wave than a salon with less capable operators. Of course there is always the possibility of finding a very excellent operator in a less ritzy shop. Then you are in good luck and not only should you patronize him yourself but spread the good news to others! If your current allowance for beauty does not permit the price of a good wave of the entire head by a superior operator, then you should compromise and have only the ends of your hair waved—which costs only a little more than half the price of having the entire head done.

Incidentally speaking of having only the ends waved—for most women that is the better course. When the entire head is waved it is setting each time it is shampooed is absolutely essential if your hair is to look well. And unless you are most adept in dressing your own hair, you must have it done at a salon. Frizzy hair, not set, detracts more from beauty than perfectly straight hair, simply combed!

With just the ends permanently waved it is possible for you to set your hair becomingly at home, by rolling the ends on curlers, or on a pencil, and pinning them to your head with hairpins or bobby pins until they are dry.

"Reconditioning Tired Hair" instructs you how to encourage hair health and beauty. For old and young. Send a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope with your request. Write me in care of this paper. (Copyright, 1938)

Man Has Right to Know Capabilities of Fiancee

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—My fiancee seems obsessed with the idea of finding out what sort of a wife I will make and continually asks me what I can do. What kind of a laundress am I? Can I cook? Can I scrub? Can I do this or that? What sort of a money-saver am I? If he has to know these things about me, why can't he have found out without asking me frankly? As a wife, I want to do my part, and expect to, but I want a husband who would marry me even though I couldn't cook an egg and thought money was something to throw at the birds, just because he loved me. There are such men. Every day we see brilliant men marrying dumb girls just because they love them and poor men marrying helpless girls whom they know they will have to wait on hand and foot. I have just about decided to break my engagement because I think if my fiancee really loved me he wouldn't think so much about whether I was capable or willing to do things or not. What do you think about it?

D. M.

Answer: If you expect to be a romantic ideal instead of a working partner to your husband, you had better walk wide of the altar, because marriage isn't that-way at all. The husbands who put their wives up on a pedestal and burn incense at their feet, no matter how trifling and no-account and wasteful they may be, are simply the creations of lady novelists. They don't exist in real life. So if you want to marry until you find a man who will still think you glamorous when he has to get his own breakfast they will carve "Miss" on your tombstone.

Marriage is a business as well as a sentimental proposition, and the success of it depends just as much upon a woman doing her part as upon a man doing his, and it is just as important that the wife should be a good cook as that the husband should be a good provider.

No home can be happy if the man at the head of it is a ne'er-do-well, whose house is a hovel, whose children are in rags and hungry. Nor is any home happy where the woman at the head of it is a lazy sloven, whose floors are unswept, whose beds are unmade and who poisons her family on her cooking.

Hence I think that your young man does not show any lack of affection for you, but just plain, good, hard, horse sense in trying to find out before marriage what sort of a wife you will make and how well fitted you are for the job. He has asked for no more reference than you would have given when applying for a position as a stenographer or clerk.

And I think that any girl should tell the man she is going to marry through the same sort of questionaire and find out just how much money he makes, what his chances of success in business are, and whether he is a waster or a saver. She would do well also to make a few searching inquiries into his idea about the division of labor and money in a family and get his notion of the general status of a wife. It would save a lot of divorces if young people would find out before marriage what sort of husbands and wives they were getting, instead of waiting until after they were married to discover that they have gotten misfit mates.

It is true that, carried away by a pretty face or some physical allure, men are often so infatuated that they marry girls whom they know to be totally unsuited to them and who possess none of the qualities they need in a wife. It is also true that girls become so besotted with love that they throw all reason and prudence to the winds and marry drunkards and loafers who have never supported themselves, but these marriages are never happy and seldom last. No man blames the millstone that sinks him even if he has tied it around his neck, and no woman continues to see a Fairy Prince in the man she has to haul out of the gutter, or who sits down and lets her go out to work to support him.

So I think, D. M., that you will make a mistake if you break off your engagement with your fiancee because he wants to find out what sort of a wife you will make. It looks as if he intended to stick to his bargain and be married to you for a long time.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Four years ago I left my wife. While I lived with her I lived a life of torment. She was hateful, nagging, bossy, insulting, tyrannical, absolutely refused to have children. My family were not allowed to call and see me. Not satisfied with bossing me at home, she would come to my office and raise scenes and finally broke up my business. She has driven me to the wall, but she refuses to give me a divorce. If I had been the worthless type of husband, I would blame myself, but all the time I lived with this heartless woman I was true to her. I don't smoke, drink or gamble, and this is one case where there is no other woman involved. I dressed my wife well, gave her a fine home and car. Never opened my pay envelope for ten years and, although she has all I worked for for fifteen years, and although she hates me, she still wants to be a dog in the manger and refuse to give me my freedom. I am tired of being in the position of being neither bound nor free, neither married nor unmarried. What is your suggestion in such a case?

G. B. H.

Answer: Evidently your wife is one of the venomous women who take a pleasure in torturing the husbands who have dared to rebel against their tyranny. Also she is afraid that if she sets you free her hold upon your pocketbook would be loosened.

You can never expect any generosity from her, so you will have to free yourself at whatever cost and sacrifice it may call for. Much is to be said against the easy divorce offered by Reno and Mexico and several other places, but they are the salvation of good men and women who have had the ill-luck to draw such wives and husbands as yours in the matrimonial lottery.

But why men, who make the laws, do not do away with the abuse under which they suffer under the present marriage laws, passes comprehension. There is no crueler injustice in the world than that a man should have to go on supporting the fiendish woman who has ruined his life because he made the mistake of marrying her.

belonging to the hotels where she stays will be rendered with the bills for her room and food. Bills for extra gas or other items at filling stations are given to her at the time. As for his own expenses: If the amount she pays him is more than enough to pay for his rooms and meals then he is probably expected to pay his own bills. If it is a very small sum, then he must straighten this out with her before starting. It may be best to do this anyway. But on no account may he take it upon himself to sit at her table unless she directs him to do so. For example, when stopping for lunch at the only "eating place" or spending the night at the only hotel, unless his employer motions him to sit beside her, he must ask the waiter or waitress to seat him at another table.

Old Gardener Says:

Probably most garden makers have learned by this time that there are great differences in hoes. Hoeing may become a heavy task if the hoe is not adapted to the needs of the person using it. On the other hand, it may be almost a pleasure to use his own hills. If it is a very small sum, then he must straighten this out with her before starting. It may be best to do this anyway. But on no account may he take it upon himself to sit at her table unless she directs him to do so. BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with astringent and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes are clogged and don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. Then Nature starts acting up—backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years—under the eye, headache and leg pain. The 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Be Modern... Cook Electrically

For 3 months, 103 women tested Westinghouse Ranges in their own homes. Now the proof is in! THEY SAY—

"One couldn't ask for more speed." "As fast or faster than anything I've ever used." THEY EMPHASIZE—That electric heat is clean heat... that electric cooking produces better-tasting foods... that the new 4-Heat-Corox Economizer and balanced heat SuperOven are amazingly economical.

THE CLOUDED MOON

By MAX SALT MARSH

THE CHARACTERS

Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera. Archie Lumsden, myself, Hugo's friend. Rene Geiss, a singularly unpleasant cartoonist.

Yesterday: Summoned to Palm Beach by O'Donnell, an American detective, Hugo and I saw the Monet murdered while she is taking part in a mannequin show.

"You say the girl was murdered, which I presume means shot, and in that case the pistol must have been fitted with a silencer, otherwise everyone would have heard the explosion. I know the noise a silencer makes, and just before the thing happened I heard such a sound, that might very well have been the shot, behind my back."

"And that is all, Monsieur?"

"No," I said bluntly. "It isn't. As my friend has told you I called for a doctor, and while I was doing so I saw two men leave the room hurriedly, one after the other. In fact," I added thoughtfully, "it looked to me as if one was pursuing the other."

"That is most interesting," said the fat man, but with a certain lack of enthusiasm. "These men--how were they dressed?"

"I shrugged. "In black trousers and white mess-jackets. They might have been waiters or guests, for all I could tell."

"But their faces?" he insisted. "You could identify them again?"

"No," I said. "I couldn't. They had their backs to me, and beyond the fact that one was a mannequin and the other a waiter, and the other shorter and ginger-colored, I saw nothing else."

Hugo shook his head. "I'll sit on my chair. There's one point..."

Wheat Quotations Show Gains After Losing One Cent

Previous 'Short' Sellers Turn Buyers on Chicago Market

Chicago—(U. S. D. A.)—After tumbling more than a cent to within fractions of the five-year lows, wheat prices rallied today and wiped out all of the loss, substituting net gains of as much as a cent in some cases.

Previous "short" sellers turned buyers in evening up their market positions on the break. The result was a strong rebound in prices during the final hour. Strength in corn quotations, which rose a cent on reports of export sales in excess of 1,000,000 bushels, helped the wheat recovery.

Receipts were: wheat 63 cars, corn 141, oats 60.

Wheat closed 1-1 cent higher compared with yesterday's finish, Sept. 62 1/2; Dec. 64 1/2; corn was 1-1 higher, Sept. 51 1/2; Dec. 49 1/2; oats unchanged to 1 up.

Testifies Three Heads Quit After Firm Lost Permit

Held Re-Hearing in Revocation of Investment Concern's License

Madison—(U. S. D. A.)—William Pohl, of Chicago, secretary of H. M. Byllesby and Company, utilities concern, testified before the state banking commission today that two of the firm's officers had resigned since the commission ordered the company's license revoked July 25, and a third, the month previous.

Today's session was a re-hearing on the commission's revocation order which claimed officers of the company had made unexplained expenditures of approximately $1,000,000 between 1927 and 1930. Commission counsel H. H. Thomas claimed the commission's findings were too remote, and questioned the right of the securities division of the banking commission to revoke licenses until its transfer from the state public service commission had become final with approval of the re-organization bill.

shouted barrage of questions, which drew repeated objections from District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

"Let the witness answer the question," Dewey protested as Stryker tumbled one question on top of another in a rapid-fire succession that left Weinberg open-mouthed.

Outdoor Party to Close Playground At Kimberly Park

Over 150 Children to Take Part in Final Event of Program

Kimberly — The playground will come to a close Friday when more than 150 children will take part in a party from 2 o'clock in the afternoon to 7 in the evening at the park. The playground is being supervised this week by Paul Van Dyke and Elmer Vanden Boogaard in place of Ray Hamann, who is on vacation, and Miss Bernadine Thein. The afternoon will be spent in playing various games and contests. Ice cream and soft drinks will be served to the children.

Those planning to attend are Tommy Dietzen, Carl Mae Dietzen, Junior Dietzen, Donald, Rommonia, Lorraine, Delmar and Bernice Schumacher, Mary Van Laanen, Hattie Van Laanen, Edward Wachtendonck, Helen and Dorothy Doerfler, Shirley Dietzen, Kenneth Dietzen, Henry and Delores Vermeeren.

New System Simplifies Search for Library Books

A simplified system of finding authors' names or the titles of books has been installed in the new filing cabinet recently purchased by the library board and installed at the Appleton Public Library. Books contained in the library are cross-indexed three ways, under the author's name, under the title of the book and under the subject to which the book relates. Cards are arranged alphabetically by the first word of the title or the author's name and guide cards are placed on the outside of each drawer. The index system may be consulted the same as a telephone directory or a dictionary.

Czechoslovakian imports of American feature films are running double those of last year. Czech imports of German films are about the same as in 1937.

THE CLOUDED MOON

By MAX SALTMARSH

nothing to spot them by." I paused, racking my brains for some detail that might have escaped me, and a sudden memory came. "Hold on a minute," said I. "I did notice a ginger-haired fellow, before the thing happened, standing behind the tables across the dance-floor, signaling to someone on our side of the room."

He pursed his lips, frowning thoughtfully. "And you think it might have been the same man? Well, we can discover if anyone left the building before orders were given to shut the doors. But meantime we will have Madame in."

He opened the outer door and gave a sharp order, and next moment a tall, handsome, middle-aged woman, a trifle mannish-looking in her tailored black satin suit, entered the room. She was pale and her mouth was grimly set, but otherwise she showed no sign of emotion. Thiers bowed. "You are Madame Lili Stefan?" he inquired. The woman inclined her head silently. "And this poor girl who has met so tragic an end—she was one of your assistants?"

A Holocaust?

"She was one of my assistants,—for this affair only," she said in a deep, rich contralto. "It will be best, I think, if I explain exactly how it happened. The girl Eve was not one of my regular mannequins. She was suggested to me last spring by Barder on Stahl. I had, unfortunately, no opening at the time, but I took her address with the promise to employ her when the occasion offered. Two days ago, when I was on the point of leaving for Cannes, one of my girls fell ill and I telephoned to this girl's apartment, 3 bis, rue President Doumergue, near the Parc Monceau, and finding that she was free, engaged her. Beyond that—I know nothing."

"The Parc Monceau?" said the chief of police, pondering finger on lip. "An expensive address, that! And her real name, Madame?"

Mme. Stefan shrugged. "I know no more than you," she retorted. "Eve Monet was what she called herself."

The fat man got ponderously to his feet. "Madame," he said, with dignity, "I thank you."

A uniformed gendarme stood in the doorway, the same that had departed on his errand a short time before. His sallow face was pearly with sweat; his beady eyes sparkled with the pleasurable anticipation of one who bears startling news, the points of his moustache quivered. "Monsieur le Commissaire!" he said excitedly, and topped at sight of us. "One speaks?" he demanded dubiously.

"Yes, yes!" said his superior testily, and he went on with a rush. "I have demanded at the doors if any person was seen to leave the building just after the tragedy, and one has said to me that yes, two men had been seen, one black-haired, the other red. They left hastily, one on the heels of the other, but there are many cars ranged outside, and the night is dark. It was not seen in what direction they went. I then demanded of the chauffeurs if any car had been taken from the ranks and was told no. No taxi had been engaged from among those waiting." He stopped and wiped his forehead with a gaudy cotton handkerchief. "But as I returned, by chance I observed something in the shrubbery—protruding from under a bush. I looked. It was a man's shoe. I looked further, and behold, the body of a man! The red, Monsieur le Chef—he lies there, shot through the heart!"

He paused dramatically, looking from one to the other of us, an actor seeking applause, and he was not disappointed in his audience. Hugo whistled, I gasped, and the fat man swore, sharply and vituperatively, like the spit of a cat. "Sacre bleu!" he said. "But this ceases to be amusing. What have we here—a holocaust?"

"I should rather say the murderer escaping, finding himself pursued, and making short work of his pursuer," suggested Hugo mildly. "Archie"—he turned to me—"that must have been the ginger-headed bloke you spotted."

The chief of police gave him a quick stare. "That is possible," he agreed. "Messieurs, I must ask you to accompany me to view the corpse—the second corpse!"

The casino opened on a square, the far end of which touched the sea-front. The building was edged by a thick fringe of shrubbery, bordered by a grass verge, and half-way along it I saw dimly, by the light filtering through curtained windows, two motionless, uniformed figures standing on guard, with a second group of on-lookers halted inquisitively a little way off.

Very Interesting

We made our way towards them with a majestic, official slowness that I found profoundly irritating, for every nerve in my body was tingling with the desire to see if I recognized the dead man, but at last we halted, the dim, uniformed shapes melted to right and left, and the gendarme who had brought the tidings flashed a powerful torch on something that lay on the dry earth.

The chief of police bent over it. Then he crooked a finger at me, and I, in turn, stepped forward, bent down, and looked.

The man lay face-upwards on the ground. His sandy hair was tumbled, so that a lock fell across his forehead; his small, humorous face was pinched and drawn; his eyes were open, staring with a startled look at the night sky above him.

"Yes," I said, straightening up. "That's the fellow, poor devil, who was signaling across the room, and for all I know he may be the one who skipped out after the shooting."

A curious muffled exclamation broke from Hugo. "As God's above," he said softly, "it's O'Donnell!"

There was a moment's startled silence, then: "Sacre bleu!" said the fat man, "he is known to you then, this unfortunate?"

Hugo was a long time replying. He stood there looking down at the dead face with something inscrutable, something menacing in his expression. "He is known to me," he agreed at last. "His name is O'Donnell. He is an American citizen, and I saw him last in the Ritz-Savoy Hotel in New York. I believe he was working as a bond-salesman. I know nothing of his family or connections, but he was a nice fellow, and I asked him, if he was ever on this side, to look me up. Only this morning I heard that he had called at my villa while I was out, but what he's doing over here I can't tell you."

I noted, with some surprise, that he had omitted to mention O'Donnell's real profession or the note that he had left, giving a rendezvous at Palm Beach. But, as I pondered his possible reason for the omission, another thing was forced on my notice. The chief of police was regarding him with a very curious expression.

"So?" he said slowly. "This man was a friend of yours?" He called on you this morning? And the girl, too—she also spoke with you today? Now, that is strange. That is—" he hesitated for a word—"very interesting."

"I agree with you," said Hugo dryly. "Though interesting's hardly the word I would have chosen. Now, see here, Thiers. This has been a fairly full evening for my friend and myself. If you've no further use for us at the moment, we'd be glad to go home to bed. Mr. Lumsden is staying with me, and you can get us any time you want in the morning."

The fat man hesitated, looking from one to the other of us with a considering expression in his small, observant eyes. "No," he agreed at last. "It is true, there is no object in detaining you now, Monsieur Stern. I have much to do here."

"Monsieur Geiss will be informed of the murder?" asked Hugo.

"Certainly," said the other, surprised. "He was acquainted with the poor girl. I depend on him for information—and for the rest, he knows how to keep his mouth shut, that one."

"Then," said Hugo casually, as we turned away, "there will be no harm in my mentioning it to him if we chance to meet..."
